

Building and Construction Trades Council of the Metropolitan District

AFFILIATED TO THE

BUILDING AND CONSTRUCTION TRADES DEPARTMENT

AFL - CIO

TERRITORIAL JURISDICTION

Arlington, Boston, Belmont, Brookline, Burlington, Cambridge, Canton, Chelsea, Dedham, Everett, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Milton, Norwood, Reading, Revere, Somerville, Stoneham, Wakefield, Westwood, Winthrop, Winchester, Woburn, and the Islands of Boston Harbor

50

TELEPHONE
617 - 227 - 8585

8 BEACON STREET
SUITE 53
BOSTON, MA 02108

September 15, 1987

John Larkin Thompson
President & Chief Executive Officer
Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Massachusetts
100 Summer Street
Boston, MA 02110

COPY

Dear Mr. Thompson:

Over the last twenty years, I have handled negotiations with Local 103, I.B.E.W., the Maintenance Trade Council at Harvard University, Lynn Hospital, Childrens Hospital, Leonard Morse Hospital and numerous other groups including, at present, the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority and the Boston Housing Authority for the Building Trades.

During the last twenty years our members, and the officers of labor organizations involved in negotiations with management, have always used Blue Cross/Blue Shield as the preferred company and the standard for all other medical insurance to be measured by. Our actions on legislative matters have always favored our largest insurance carrier Blue Cross/Blue Shield. It is with this in mind, that I write to you today.

Continued attacks by management on unions in this country during the past seven years have created an atmosphere in America, that labor can be used and abused. This atmosphere will not survive, and must not be condoned by the legitimate business community. For you, as Chief Executive Officer of Blue Cross/Blue Shield to condone these actions through benign neglect of operating procedure or tacit approval of memorandums (see enclosed memo. from David F. O'Donnell dated 7/13/87) does you and Blue Cross/Blue Shield disservice.

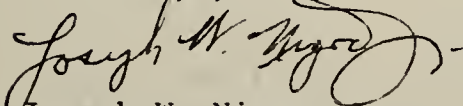

Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Massachusetts should be proud to wear the Union Label. Your respect for this American freedom can no longer be ignored. Unions have promoted security, have given all a chance to advance, and have assured more humane treatment and dignity. It is gross ignorance to accuse unions, because an individual has discredited himself.

The record shows that unions are making, and will continue to make, valuable contributions to a higher standard of life in America.

As Chief Executive Officer of any company, I would be proud to say my employees have chosen to affiliate with a union and I would strive to make that choice the right one for them and my company.

With respect for our many good years together, and hope for Blue Cross/Blue Shield enlightenment, I remain,

Sincerely yours,

Joseph W. Nigro, Jr.
Secretary/Treasurer &
General Agent
Boston Building Trades Council

enclosure

cc: Office & Professional Employees Int'l. Union Local No. 6
Arthur Osborn, President, Massachusetts AFL-CIO

Local 285

Service Employees International Union, AFL-CIO

Nancy Mills
Executive Director

Celia Wcislo
President

Paul Hurteau
Secretary-Treasurer

September 24, 1987

Mr. John Larkin Thompson
President and Chief Executive Officer
Blue Cross-Blue Shield
100 Summer Street
Boston, MA 02110

Dear Sir:

After reading the memo distributed by David F. O'Donnel (dated July 13, 1987), I am truly dismayed at BC-BS seeming hostility to union organizing attempt by OPEIU Local 6.

Nearly 60% of BC-BS subscribers are union members. Our SEIU, Local 285 represents over 10,000 members around the Commonwealth. Our members are either public employees or health care workers. They are either BC-BS users or providers of medical care. The fact that you are aggressively attacking a union organizing effort both alarms and dismays us.

We urge you as Chief Executive Officer to direct your organization (and its officers) not to intervene in the election efforts of OPEIU Local 6, and to let the BC-BS workforce make a democratic decision for themselves without fear of reprisal.

Sincerely,

Celia Wcislo

Celia Wcislo
President
SEIU, Local 285

cc: ✓ Arthur Osborn
James E. Mahoney

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2012 with funding from Boston Library Consortium Member Libraries

<http://archive.org/details/executivecouncil87105afl2>

C 104 Auburn St.
Cambridge, MA 02139
617-661-2064

Co-Chairs:*

Domenic Bozzotto, Pres., Local 26, HERE;
Ed Clark, Int'l V.P., ACTWU;
Nancy Finkelstein, Pres., Mass Teachers Assoc.
Nancy Mills, Exec. Dir., Local 285, SEIU;

Secretary:*

Tess Ewing, Past Pres., USWA 8751

Committee:* (In Formation)

Herbert Bardasz, Pres., UFCW 616
Jim Barrett, Pres., USWA 8751
Jack Barry, Pres., NALC, Branch 25
Joseph Bonavita, Exec. Dir., AFSCME
Council 93
Jon Brandow, Past Pres., IUMSWA, Local 5
David Brenner, Bus. Rep., Laundry & Dry
Cleaning Union, Local 66
Ed Burke, Pres., IAM 1726
Jack Clement, B.A., IBEW 2321
Dave Cohen, Field Organizer, UE, Dist. 2
Ed Collins, B.A., IBEW 455
Judy Coughlin, Chair, TWU 553
Ed DeMoura, Pres., UE 284
Peter diCicco, Pres., IUE, N.E. Regional Council 2
Carol Doherty, Past Pres., MTA
Kevin Doyle, Area Dir., Dist 1199
George Embleton, Pres., AFSCME 1526
Tom Evers, Pres., Mass Building Trades
Howie Fain, Pres., AFSCME 402
Bruce Ferin, Pres., IUE 254
Bill Foley, Dist. 1 Dir., USWA;
Anthony Fonseca, Pres., IUE 206
Bob Forrant, B.A., IUE 206
John Gallery, Pres., USWA 2285
Ed Galuszka, Sub-Dist. Dir., USWA 1
John Ingemi, Pres., AFSCME 1489
Rose Jackson, Pres., SEIU 1475
Kevin Johnson, Pres., USWA 3901
Daniel Kearney, Nat'l V.P., AFGE
Karen Klopfer, Pres., Daycare Local, Dist 65/
UAW
Marchie LaGrasta, Pres., Greater Brockton
Central Labor Council
Bill Lapierre, Pres., AFSCME 651
Dorine Levasseur, Pres., SEIU 925
Dave Lima, Textiles Dir., N./E. Joint Bd., ACTWU
Kevin Mahar, Pres., IUE 201
Dorothea Manuela, Exec. Dir., Dist 40, CESAEU
Bob Murphy, Pres. Somerville Teachers Assoc.
Sue Parsons, Pres., B.U. Local, Dist. 65/UAW
Doug Perry, Dist. 2 Dir., UE
Warren Plaut, Pres., GC1U 48-B
Rod Poineau, Pres., UE 277
Nick Roussos, Pres., United Labor Council of Greater Fall River
Gulzari Sharma, Pres., USWA 2831
Judy Shindul, Pres., Mass. Nurses Assoc.
Dave Slaney, Pres., USWA 2431
John Templeton, Pres., SEIU 509
Jonathan Tuttle, Pres., AFSCME 1776
Mary Wardwell, Pres., USA/MTA
Celia Weislo, Pres., SEIU 285
David Webster, Pres., AFSCME 470

Friends of the Committee:*

Fr. Edward Boyle, S.J., Labor Guild of the Archdiocese
Douglas Butler, Pres., Greater Boston A. Philip Randolph Institute
Michael Schippani, Policy Advisor, Exec. Office of Labor

*Organizations listed for identification only.

Massachusetts Labor Committee in Support of Democracy, Human Rights, and Non-Intervention in Central America

Sept. 24, 1987

Arthur Osborn, Pres.
Mass. AFL-CIO Council
8 Beacon St.
Boston, MA 02108

Dear Brother Osborn,

On behalf of the Massachusetts Labor Committee in Support of Democracy, Human Rights and Non-Intervention in Central America, I would like to invite you to a forum we are co-sponsoring along with the Boston Labor Committee on Central America and the Massachusetts Labor Committee for a Free South Africa. The topic of the forum is "What's Happening to Our Jobs--and Why? Plant Closings, Concessions, and U.S. Foreign Policy."

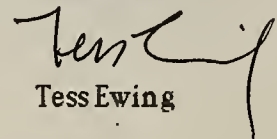

The forum will be held on Wednesday, October 7, at 7:00 p.m. in Room 402 of the Park Plaza Hotel. The forum will be chaired by Ed Clark, and the speakers will include Dave Dyson from ACTWU and Bill Fletcher from District 65, UAW.

We will be inviting all of the AFL-CIO convention delegates to the forum. We would be honored if you would attend. We would also appreciate if you would help publicize the event in any way you can. We hope you will agree that the connection between job security and U.S. foreign policy deserves careful attention within the labor movement. This forum will help union members to understand what is happening to their jobs, and what we can do to protect them.

We look forward to seeing you on October 7. If you have any questions, please contact me at the number listed above.

Thank you.

Fraternally,

Tess Ewing

C

61 Beryl Street
Roslindale, MA 02131
September 22, 1987

Mr. Arthur Osborn, President
Massachusetts State Labor Council, AFL-CIO
8 Beacon Street
Boston, MA 02108

Dear Brother Osborn,

I would like to formally protest the actions of Local 26's President, Domenic Bozzotto. Mr. Bozzotto asked for and entertained a motion at Local 26's September 13th Membership Meeting which is in direct conflict with the Local 26 By-Laws, the International Constitution, Robert's Rules of Order, and most of all, against the membership's constitutional rights, upon which this great country is based.

At the Sunday June 14th Local 16 Membership Meeting, the membership voted to elect eight delegates and two by virtue of their office, the President and Secretary-Treasurer, a total of ten delegates, to both the Massachusetts AFL-CIO State Convention and the Greater Boston Labor Council. The delegates were nominated and eight were elected via secret ballot in accordance with Article VIII of the By-Laws of Local 26 (results enclosed). Notice of the nominations and elections were given in the June issue of the Local 26 Newsletter (copy enclosed). Sixteen candidates for the delegate positions were nominated and eight delegates were elected at the June meeting to both councils making a total of ten delegates (eight elected and two by virtue of their office).

At the September 13th Union Meeting Mr. Bozzotto asked for and entertained a motion to change the number of delegates to the Massachusetts State AFL-CIO Convention and Greater Boston Labor Council, from eight to sixteen. He further ruled that, in light of the motion, everyone who was originally nominated at the June 14th Membership Meeting would be seated as delegates.

Mr. Bozzotto can not entertain a motion which would modify the results of a properly conducted election. Everyone was officially notified at the June Membership Meeting of the results, as they were officially read there. Beyond that, he certainly can not appoint additional delegates without notification and election. Samuel Gompers, would turn in his grave at the thought of labor today, putting up with this tyranical abuse of power, by a union president; who because he could not get the delegates of his choice elected tries to alter the results of a secret ballot election which he ran himself and further tries to deny members the right to cast sixteen votes at the Membership Meeting instead of eight.

I hope that you will only seat the ten properly elected delegates to the Greater Boston Labor Council, take steps to correct this raping of the membership of Local 26 and uphold the proper election conducted on June 14. If the Greater Boston Labor Council were to allow Domenic Bozzotto to undermine the democratic process it would certainly destroy the credibility that unions have in defending the rights of their members.

I have enclosed a copy of the Local 26 By-Laws, Local 26 Newsletter, applicable sections of Roberts Rules of Order and the names of two parliamentarians who agree that the delegates can not be increased without proper notification and another election.

As a point of information, I am also enclosing a copy of the Local 26's old By-Laws which allowed the President to appoint delegates, rather than have them democratically elected. Ironically, President Bozzotto, some years ago, helped me change this By-Law so as to have free delegates and to keep the president from becoming a tyrannical dictator.

I am anxiously awaiting your reply.

Fraternally,

Lucy J. Festa
Delegate Local 26

cc: George Carpenter, Secretary/Treasurer

C

FAMILY SERVICE OF GREATER BOSTON

34½ Beacon Street
Boston, MA 02108
(617) 523-6400

Daniel A. Phillips
President

Barbara A. Burgess
Vice President

James Stark Draper
Vice President

Ruth Ann Moriarty
Vice President

William P. Daly
Treasurer

Lyle E. Lawrence
Assistant Treasurer

William J. Maytum
Clerk

Board of Trustees

Patricia Arredondo, Ed.D.

Betty Baker

Paula J. Brody

Eileen A. Collins

John H. Clymer

Jim Donnelly

Mrs. Malcolm Donald*

Marchant W. Eldridge

Mrs. Henry G. Gomperts*

Franklin T. Hammond, Jr.*

William C. Holder

Eliot Hubbard, III

Eleanor W. Jaffe

Katherine Jones

Richard E. Kent

Mrs. Laurence M. Lombard*

Marcia MacClary

Elaine S. Marks

Melissa S. Meyer

Sumner N. Milender

Jeff C. Nadherny

Ellen Offner

Chester M. Pierce, M.D.

Homer B. Platt

Edward S. Rogerson

Catherine Roosevelt

Mrs. George R. Rowland*

Beatrice Slotnik

Dr. Edgar E. Smith

Leonard A. Spalding

Gerald Swerling

Allan E. Taylor

May Ling Tong

Elizabeth Ahn Toupin

F. Frank Vorenberg*

Elaine Werby

Marti Wilson

William H. Wright, Jr.

John Wylde

Elba Young

*Honorary Trustees

Patrick V. Riley

Executive Director

Faye Weston

Associate Executive Director

Donald P. Riley

Assistant Executive Director

Donald W. Moreland

Executive Director Emeritus

September 21, 1987

Mr. Arthur Osborne
Mass. AFL/CIO
8 Beacon Street
Boston, MA 02108

Dear Mr. Osborne:

Thank you for your very generous donation of $100 to Family Service of Greater Boston.

Your support will help us provide a wide range of services to families throughout the Boston area. Friends like you are indeed vital to our continuance of our service to the homebound elderly, the homeless, troubled children and teenagers, substance abusers, and family members of all ages in need of help.

We are extremely pleased to count you among the friends of Family Service of Greater Boston. Again, thank you for your most generous support.

Sincerely yours,

Dan Phillips
Daniel A. Phillips
President

Many thanks for your important help.

MPDC
Massachusetts Product Development Corporation

Joseph D. Alviani
Chairman

Samuel Leiken
President

September 24, 1987

Arthur Osborn
President
Massachusetts AFL-CIO
8 Beacon Street
Boston, MA 02108

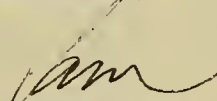

Dear Arthur:

I just wanted to take the opportunity to thank you and Joe Faherty for your letter presenting the Massachusetts Product Development Corporation to your industrial unions.

MPDC remains eager to receive inquiries from organized companies, and I hope that the mailing you sent out will be the first step. You will be pleased to learn that in our first year we have made commitments of $560,000 to four manufacturing firms, which, if successful, will preserve and create 215 jobs.

I know how busy and demanding things can be in your office, so please express my gratitude to everyone involved in sending out our brochure.

Sincerely,

Samuel Leiken

SL/ljl

✓
Labor's Community Services Liaison Program

Arthur,
Thanks for your participation and support at our meetings in Boston. Hopefully the Councils will be active on the Memorandum of Understanding and Community Services Committees and the United Way will respond quickly. As soon as I know when the United Ways of Massachusetts will meet in December, I will call you to strategize. In the meantime, best wishes in the election and call me if I can be of any assistance.

Department of Labor Participation
United Way of America

Thanks
Bill

LABOR'S COMMUNITY SERVICES LIAISON PROGRAM

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR PARTICIPATION
UNITED WAY OF AMERICA

FIELD TRIP REPORT

CITY BOSTON STATE MASSACHUSETTS
DATE SEPTEMBER 9, 10, 1987 STAFF WILLIAM R. HAUENSTEIN &
JORDAN L. BISCARDO

PURPOSE OF VISIT: C&TA - Liaison Attendance at Conferences

PRINCIPAL CONTACTS:

Giro Cardinale, President, Norfolk County Labor Council, AFL-CIO
Robert X. Chandler, President (CPO), United Way of Massachusetts Bay
James Farmer, President, Greater Boston Labor Council, AFL-CIO
Horace A. (Al) Hamilton, AFL-CIO Community Services Liaison, Lynn
Joseph W. Joyce, Executive Secretary-Treasurer, Greater Boston Labor Council, AFL-CIO
Frank Myers, Assistant Director, AFL-CIO Region VIII
Arthur R. Osborn, President, Massachusetts AFL-CIO
Richard Picciuto, AFL-CIO Community Services Liaison, Quincy
M. Joseph Quirk, Jr., AFL-CIO Community Services Liaison, Boston
Richard R. Rodwell, AFL-CIO Community Services Liaison, Boston

COMMENTS ON VISIT: As requested by AFL-CIO Director of Community Services, Frank Emig, Bud and I participated in two meetings in Boston. In the first meeting, Bud and I met with Brothers Joyce, Farmer, Cardinale, Osborn, Myers and the four AFL-CIO Community Services Liaisons in the Boston Area. Among the issues addressed were:

o Liaison Staff Attendance at the AFL-CIO Community Services Conference - The Council officers pledged their support for any action necessary to assure staff attendance at appropriate future conferences and meetings.

Labor's Community Services Liaison Program

Arthur,

Thanks for your participation and support at our meetings in Boston. Hopefully the Councils will be acting on the Memorandum of Understanding and Community Services Committees and the United Way will respond quickly. As soon as I know when the United Ways of Massachusetts will meet in December, I will call you to strategize. In the meantime, best wishes in the election and call me if I can be of any assistance.

Department of Labor Participation
United Way of America

Thanks
Bill

LABOR'S COMMUNITY SERVICES LIAISON PROGRAM

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR PARTICIPATION
UNITED WAY OF AMERICA

FIELD TRIP REPORT

CITY BOSTON STATE MASSACHUSETTS
DATE SEPTEMBER 9, 10, 1987 STAFF WILLIAM R. HAUENSTEIN &
JORDAN L. BISCARDO

PURPOSE OF VISIT: C&TA - Liaison Attendance at Conferences

PRINCIPAL CONTACTS:

Giro Cardinale, President, Norfolk County Labor Council, AFL-CIO
Robert X. Chandler, President (CPO), United Way of Massachusetts Bay
James Farmer, President, Greater Boston Labor Council, AFL-CIO
Horace A. (Al) Hamilton, AFL-CIO Community Services Liaison, Lynn
Joseph W. Joyce, Executive Secretary-Treasurer, Greater Boston Labor Council, AFL-CIO
Frank Myers, Assistant Director, AFL-CIO Region VIII
Arthur R. Osborn, President, Massachusetts AFL-CIO
Richard Picciuto, AFL-CIO Community Services Liaison, Quincy
M. Joseph Quirk, Jr., AFL-CIO Community Services Liaison, Boston
Richard R. Rodwell, AFL-CIO Community Services Liaison, Boston

COMMENTS ON VISIT: As requested by AFL-CIO Director of Community Services, Frank Emig, Bud and I participated in two meetings in Boston. In the first meeting, Bud and I met with Brothers Joyce, Farmer, Cardinale, Osborn, Myers and the four AFL-CIO Community Services Liaisons in the Boston Area. Among the issues addressed were:

o Liaison Staff Attendance at the AFL-CIO Community Services Conference - The Council officers pledged their support for any action necessary to assure staff attendance at appropriate future conferences and meetings.

o Memorandum Of Understanding - I distributed copies of the National Model Memorandum Of Understanding and both Bud and I stressed the importance of the document in dealing with staff attendance at conferences, the Labor/United Way relationship and other issues relative to the liaison program. I offered any assistance necessary to explain and interpret the document at their Executive Board and/or United Way meetings. The Council officers again offered their full support in taking action at their respective council meetings and pursuing favorable action from the United Way.

o Community Services Committees - Bud and I stressed the importance of active Community Services Committees in developing comprehensive Community Services programs, obtaining active participation from local unions and improving the ability of the liaisons to expand and enhance all aspects of AFL-CIO Community Services. The officers remained consistent and agreed to support the effort.

o Massachusetts AFL-CIO Community Services Liaison - We outlined the necessity of having the support of the United Way of Massachusetts Bay to be successful in obtaining a statewide AFL-CIO Community Services Liaison. Key to obtaining this support is the influence of the council officers. The officers indicated their support for this position.

o AFL-CIO Community Services Liaison Business Cards, Stationery, etc. - The liaisons reported the lack of appropriate Labor identification on printed pieces. Bob Rodwell indicated he thought it would be no problem having new materials printed utilizing the same format as national staff. Bud has sent them reproduction sheets for local printing.

o United Way of Massachusetts Bay Campaign Kickoff - There was general agreement and appreciation that United Way recognition of Labor participation at the Kickoff held on August 9 was the best ever.

After this meeting, Arthur Osborn joined Bud and me in the meeting with Bob Chandler where the following issues were addressed:

o Liaison Staff Attendance at the AFL-CIO Community Services Conference - See next item.

o Memorandum Of Understanding - After providing Bob a copy of the Model Memorandum Of Understanding, he expressed surprise that the liaison program was not covered by a written agreement. He indicated his intent to review the document and to sign and implement the memorandum in its proposed form. He also indicated he would adhere to liaison staff attendance at the meetings and conferences provided for in the memorandum.

o Massachusetts AFL-CIO Community Services Liaison - Bob made it clear he would not fund the position without participation from other United Ways in the state. He said he would support the position and promote its implementation. He recommended pursuing the issue at a meeting of the state association of United Way professionals and suggested contacting Herb Clauson, the association chairperson, to request an agenda spot and to get information on future meetings. Bob also said it is essential to get local Central Labor Bodies to advance this issue with local United Ways to obtain their participation in funding the statewide liaison.

CONCLUSIONS: These were productive meetings which I believe will resolve the immediate issue of liaison staff attendance at conferences by implementing a Memorandum Of Understanding based on the National Model. In the longer term, the meetings improved awareness of the potential of AFL-CIO Community Services and the liaison program and moved us closer to the commitments necessary to implement the statewide liaison program.

NOTES: I contacted Kevin Mahar, President of the North Shore Labor Council, who was fully briefed by Al Hamilton. Kevin provided his endorsement and support to the issues discussed at the meeting.

I also contacted Herb Clauson, Chairperson of the statewide United Way professional association, who agreed to put the statewide AFL-CIO Community Services Liaison proposal on the December meeting agenda. Meetings are scheduled for the fourth Friday which conflicts with Christmas, so Herb said he would inform me of the specifics when determined. Arthur Osborn agreed to participate in this meeting also.

WRH/jdc

cc: Ray Andrus
Giro Cardinale
Robert X. Chandler
Frank W. Emig
James Farmer
Horace A. (Al) Hamilton
Joseph W. Joyce
Kevin D. Mahar
Frank Myers
Arthur R. Osborn ✓
Richard Picciuto
M. Joseph Quirk, Jr.
Richard R. Rodwell

DATE REPORT FILED: SEPTEMBER 15, 1987

SOUND OF ERIN

SOUND OF ERIN RADIO PROGRAM/P.O. Box 12, Belmont, Massachusetts 02178 tel: (617) 484-2275

John Curran
Bernie McCarthy
Pat Twohig

10 September 1987

Dear Friend:

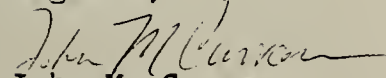

Enclosed is a cassette tape which contains interviews aired on the Sound of Erin Irish Radio Program during labor week 1987. The following people were guests on our program:

Mr. Joseph Faherty
Mr. Marty Foley
Mr. Neil Santangelo
Mr. Mike Walsh
Mr. Barney Walsh

We have had a great deal of positive response to these interviews and also to special segments which we presented pertaining to unions and labor.

We hope that this experience will present us with opportunities in the future to be of benefit to each other.

Regards,

John M. Curran
President

OCTOBER 1987

Monday, September 28

4-6 pm

West German Study Group: Oskar Lafontaine, Minister-President of the Saarland and Deputy Leader of the SPD will speak on "The Current State of the SPD and Domestic Politics in the Federal Republic of Germany." Place: 5 Bryant Street.

Wednesday, Sept. 30

2-4 pm

Joint Labor / West German Study Groups: Udo Mayer, Professor at the Hochschule für Wirtschaft und Politik, Hamburg, will speak on "Labor Market Flexibility and Employee Staffing in the FRG." Place: 5 Bryant Street.

Friday, October 2

12:30-2 pm

CES FRIDAY LUNCH: Apple and cabbage phyllo pie, salad, rolls and butter, congo bars, and coffee. Price: $4.50. All welcome. Place: 5 Bryant St.

12-2 pm

West German Study Group: Jürgen Kramer, Bonn correspondent for WDR (Westdeutscher Rundfunk) will discuss "The Identity of West Germans." Place: Coolidge Hall, 1737 Cambridge Street, Rm 2.

3-5 pm

Italian Study Group: Marcello Messori, Professor of Economics, University of Cassino, Visiting Scholar, Program in Science, Technology, and Society, MIT, will give a talk entitled "Entrepreneurs and the Social Construction of Markets in Southern Italy: A discussion Introduced by Marcello Messori." Wine and cheese will be served following discussion. Place: 5 Bryant St.

Monday, October 5

4-6 pm

East European Study Group: Libuse Volbrachtova, Institute of Political Science at the Karl Eberhard University, Tübingen, will give a talk entitled "Popular Culture as Resistance -- In Search of Identity in East Europe: the Example of Czechoslovakia." Place: 5 Bryant Street.

Tuesday, October 6
4-6 pm

Study Group on the United States in a European Perspective: Ramesh Mishra, McMaster University, will speak on "The State of the Welfare State: North America and Europe." Place: 5 Bryant St.

4-6 pm

SPECIAL LECTURE: Rolf Steininger, Institute of Contemporary History, University of Innsbruck, and author of Eine vertane Chance: die Stalin-Note vom 10.März 1952 und die Wiedervereinigung (1985), will give a lecture entitled "The Stalin Notes Reconsidered." Place: 5 Bryant Street.

Thursday, October 8
3-5 pm

MINI-SYMPOSIUM: "Austria and the Marshall Plan." Speakers will be Herbert Matis, Professor of Economic History, Leonhard Bauer, Professor of Economics, Dieter Stiefel, Associate Professor of Economic History -- all three at the University of Vienna; Oliver Rathkolb, Ludwig Boltzmann Institute for History and Social Sciences, Vienna; and Wilfried Mähr, Scientific Adviser, Schloss Hofen, Vorarlberg Educational Institute. Chair: Charles Maier. Discussant: Thomas Schwartz. Co-sponsored by the Diplomatic History Workshop. Place: 5 Bryant Street.

5-7 pm

East European Study Group: Jan Karski, Professor of Government, Georgetown University, will give a talk entitled "Churchill-Roosevelt-Stalin's Secret War Diplomacy Concerning Eastern Europe 1939-45." Co-sponsored by the National Endowment for the Humanities. Place: 5 Bryant Street.

Friday, October 9
12:30-2 pm

CES FRIDAY LUNCH: Cajun shepherd pie, salad, rolls and butter, fresh fruit, and coffee. Price: $4.50. All welcome. Place: 5 Bryant St.

2-4 pm

Iberian Study Group: Gary McDonough, New College, University of South Florida, will give a talk on "Elite Culture and Elite Categories in Turn-of-the-Century Barcelona." Place: 5 Bryant Street.

Monday, October 12

COLUMBUS DAY: The Center will be closed.

Tuesday, October 13
12-2 pm

Joint French / Cities, Regions, and Economic Change Study Groups: Alain Lipietz, CEPREMAP, will give a talk entitled "New Technology, New Social Regulation, New Form of Urbanization." Place: 5 Bryant Street.

Thursday, October 15
2-4 pm

French Study Group: Nonna Mayer, Researcher at the Fondation Nationale des Sciences Politiques, Paris, will speak on "The Bases of Social Support for the Front National." Place: 5 Bryant Street.

- 8-10 pm The Jews in Modern Europe Study Group: Dennis B. Klein, Director, International Center for Holocaust Studies, Anti-Defamation League of the B'nai B'rith will speak on "The New Strategy of Forgetfulness." Place: 5 Bryant Street.
- Friday, October 16
12:30-2 pm CES FRIDAY LUNCH: Thai fried chicken, rice-noodle salad, rolls and butter, apple cobbler, and coffee. Price: $4.50. All welcome. Place: 5 Bryant Street.
- 2-4 pm Social Theory Study Group: Harvey Goldman, Dept. of Political Science, Columbia University, will give a paper entitled "Ascetic Politics and the Concept of the Person in Max Weber." A copy will be placed on reserve in the CES library. Place: 5 Bryant Street.
- 4-6 pm British Study Group: Susan Kent, Susan B. Anthony Fellow at the University of Rochester, will speak on "The Politics of Sexual Difference: World War I and the Decline of British Feminism." Kent is the author of Sex and Suffrage in Britain from 1860-1914 (Princeton Univ. Press, 1987). Place: 5 Bryant Street.
- Monday, October 19
4-6 pm Joint Cities, Regions, and Economic Change / West German Study Groups: Martin Osterland, University of Bremen, will give a talk entitled "Declining Industries, Plant Closing, and Local Labor Markets: A Case Study of the City of Bremen." Place: 5 Bryant Street.
- Wednesday, October 21
2-4 pm Joint French / The Jews in Modern Europe Study Groups: Nadine Fresco, Historian at CNRS, Paris, will give a talk entitled "When Denial Stands for Refusal: The Case of Revisionism in France." 5 Bryant Street.
- Friday, October 23 No CES Friday Lunch.
- Monday, October 26
2-4 pm West German Study Group: Joyce Mushaben, Department of Political Science, University of Missouri, St. Louis, will speak on "The Four Paradoxes of German Identity and Security." Place: 5 Bryant Street.
- 8-10 pm Parties, Elections, and Representation Study Group: Ferdinand Müller-Rommel, Department of Social Science, Lüneburg University, will speak on "'New Politics' Parties in Western Europe." Place: 5 Bryant Street.

Tuesday, October 27
2-4 pm

West German Study Group: Douglas Webber, Research Fellow, Max Planck Institut für Gesellschaftsforschung, Cologne, will speak on "The Politics of Telecommunications in France, Great Britain, and the FRG." Place: 5 Bryant Street.

Thursday, October 29
2-4 pm

Study Group on Writing Biography: Jacques Szaluta, U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, King's Point, NY, will speak on "The Writing of Biography: the Psycho-historical Approach to Pétain." Place: 5 Bryant Street.

Friday, October 30
12:30-2 pm

CES FRIDAY LUNCH: Lamb couscous, salad, rolls and butter, walnut shortbread, and coffee. All welcome. Place: 5 Bryant Street.

12-2 pm

West German Study Group: Heide Simonis, SPD Member of the Bundestag, will speak on "German Arms Exports to the Third World." Place: Coolidge Hall, 1737 Cambridge St. (Please call CES to confirm.)

ANNOUNCEMENTS

New Study Groups

As well as the study groups which are familiar from previous years, the following newly formed groups will be active:

Legal Theory: Public and Private Law Study Group: this study group will focus on the nature and role of legal issues to the development of state institutions from a comparative perspective, one which contrasts American with West and East European cases of adjudication. Chaired by Harvey Rishikof.

Study Group on Cities, Regions, and Economic Change: this study group will focus on the nature and role of cities and regions, both historically and in the current period. Chaired by Carol Heim and Gary Herrigel.

Study Group on the United States in a European Perspective: papers and informal talks will deal with the broad implications of the social and economic choices facing Europe and the United States by raising questions from a cross-Atlantic perspective. Chaired by Margaret Weir and S.M. Miller.

Study Group on Writing Biography: jointly sponsored by the CES and the Center for Literary Studies, this group will focus on specific lives but will also deal with such theoretical issues as the ethical problems confronting "official biographers, the "subgenres" of autobiography, memoir and letters, psychohistory as methodological framework, and new concepts of feminist biography. Chaired by Helena Lewis and Deborah Nord.

In addition, The Jews in Modern Europe Study Group, which was "on leave" throughout much of last year will resume regular activities.

Krupp Foundation Fellowship

The Krupp Foundation Fellowship in European Studies provides funds for graduate students in the Faculty of Arts and Sciences at Harvard working on dissertation topics concerning Europe in the post-1750 period. Applications are accepted from students in the departments of Anthropology, Economics, Government, History, Philosophy, Psychology, and Sociology. Highly theoretical topics, or topics which do not require research in Europe, will not be accepted. Recipients are required to spend a minimum of six to nine months abroad. In some cases, a half-year grant will be given. Information about this year's competition and application forms can be obtained from the Center in mid-October. The application deadline is Jan. 8, 1988.

A New Title in The CES Working Paper Series

The CES Working Paper Series, edited by Peter A. Hall, announces the appearance of:

No. 6. Fritz Scharpf, "The Political Calculus of Inflation and Unemployment in Western Europe." This paper attempts to interpret the inflation-unemployment experience of Austria, Great Britain, Sweden, and West Germany in the 1970s and early 1980s as the outcome of a sequence of "linked games" between governments and labour unions (and, in the West German case, a politically independent central bank) on the one hand, and between governments and different strata of the electorate on the other. The first "coordination game" could be played in two versions, "Keynesian" or "Monetarist," each of which had a game-theoretical equilibrium outcome. The choice between these two coordination games was determined in the second "politics game." In the absence of particularly favorable institutional conditions, the overall outcome was a historical shift from the Keynesian equilibrium of full employment with high inflation to the Monetarist equilibrium of high unemployment with price stability.

This paper, like the others in the series, costs $3.50 and can be ordered from the Publications Department at CES. Checks should be made out to HARVARD UNIVERSITY.

TWO RECENT PUBLICATIONS BY CENTER ASSOCIATES

Schama, Simon. The Embarrassment of Riches: An Interpretation of Dutch Culture in the Golden Age. New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1987.

Moving far beyond the conventions of social or cultural history, Schama investigates the astonishing case of a people's self-invention: how, in the seventeenth century, a modest assortment of farming, fishing, and shipping communities, without shared language, religion, or government, transformed themselves into a formidable world empire -- the Dutch Republic. This study is an attempt, in word and image, to reconstitute the mental furniture of the Dutch world -- to explore the collective personality of this remarkable people during the three generations in which they created themselves out of nothing, both politically and artistically.

Sirianni, Carmen, ed. Worker Participation and the Politics of Reform. Philadelphia: Temple University Press, 1987.

This collection of essays brings together the latest research on worker participation by some of the leading experts in the field. The issues of new technology, changing skills, and the labor process, union power, work-time innovation, and gender are central to the analyses of participatory and Quality of Worklife programs. The scope of reforms examined ranges from North and West Europe, the United States, and Japan to East Europe and China and less developed countries in Latin America and the Caribbean. Managerial, union, and government strategies are viewed as part of the politics of reform both at the level of the workplace and in larger arenas of industrial relations and political environment. Includes essays by Christopher S. Allen, George Ross, the editor, and others.

SOME BOOKS RECEIVED BY THE CES LIBRARY OVER THE SUMMER:

- Graham, Helen and Preston, Paul, eds. The Popular Front in Europe. New York, 1986.
- Heclo, Hugh and Madsen, Henryk. Policy and Politics in Sweden. Temple UP, 1987.
- Ignham, G. Capitalism Divided? The City and Industry in British Social Development. London, 1984.
- Kolinsky, Eva, ed. Opposition in Western Europe. London, 1987.
- Maier, Charles, ed. Changing Boundaries of the Political. Essays on the Evolving Balance Between the State and Society, Public and Private in Europe. Cambridge UP, 1987.
- Megill, Alan. Prophets of Extremity: Nietzsche, Heidegger, Foucault, Derrida. Berkeley, 1985.
- Schama, Simon. The Embarrassment of Riches. New York, 1987.
- Scholten, Ilja, ed. Political Stability and Neo-Corporatism. Beverly Hills, 1987.
- Sirianni, C. ed. Worker Participation and the Politics of Reform. Temple UP, 1987.
- Toranska, T. "Them": Stalin's Polish Puppets. New York, 1987.
- Tyrrell, Ian. The Absent Marx: Class Analysis and Liberal History in 20th-Century America. Greenwood, 1986.

NONPROFIT ORG.
U.S. POSTAGE PAID
BOSTON, MA
PERMIT NO. 54931

HARVARD UNIVERSITY CENTER FOR EUROPEAN STUDIES
5 BRYANT STREET
CAMBRIDGE, MASSACHUSETTS 02138

THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

ASTOR LENOX TILDEN FOUNDATION
455 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK, N. Y. 10017

Open to all
Open to all
Open to all

Open to all
Open to all
Open to all

Open to all
Open to all
Open to all

Open to all
Open to all
Open to all

Open to all
Open to all
Open to all

Open to all
Open to all
Open to all

Open to all
Open to all
Open to all

Open to all
Open to all
Open to all

Open to all
Open to all
Open to all

HARVARD UNIVERSITY

CENTER FOR EUROPEAN STUDIES
1987-1988
PROGRAM AND RESEARCH ASSOCIATES

5 Bryant Street
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138
617-495-4303

This brochure is divided into two sections: the first is devoted to a description of the program, projects and publications for 1987-88; the second describes our Research Associates, Affiliates and Graduate Student Associates. The Committee hopes that all faculty and students interested in contemporary Europe will participate in the activities of the Center. A monthly calendar of events, which details speakers and seminars, is mailed upon request (617-495-4303).

Stanley Hoffmann
Chairman
(on leave 1987-88)

Guido Goldman
Director

Charles S. Maier
Acting Chairman 1987-88

Abby Collins
Assistant Director

Trudi Koziol
Publications Director

PROGRAM

The Center for European Studies is an interdisciplinary program organized within the Harvard Faculty of Arts and Sciences and designed to promote the study of Europe. The Center's governing committees represent the major social science departments at Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Since its establishment in 1969, the Center has sought to encourage research and teaching about the issues facing contemporary Europe and its historical background. The Center's approach is comparative and cross-disciplinary; its seminars and scholars focus on single countries as well as overarching political, social or cultural transformations. The Center brings together faculty from universities in the Boston area, supports Harvard and MIT graduate student dissertation research, hosts European academics and public figures, organizes conferences on historical and current topics, and maintains more than twenty continuing study groups. At any one time, it is home to about thirty resident faculty, guest scholars, and graduate student affiliates. The interaction between senior faculty and younger scholars, between Europeans and Americans, has always been a basic to the Center's objectives: to promote the training of a new generation of teachers of European politics and history, to study the experiments and adaptations of European society as unique, historically shaped responses, but also as part of the larger evolution of modern Western culture and industrial society.

Long-standing interests of Center members have included the role of the state in the political economy of Western nations, labor organizations and economic development, political parties and social movements, and the history of ideological conflicts in Europe. These core concerns have been increasingly complemented by investigations into art and culture. A vigorous publications program includes newsletters on French and German politics and society, volumes that arise from Center colloquia (e.g., on the Marshall Plan, the rise of the Nazi regime, or the impact of war on women), and a working papers series.

The Center will occupy its current building at 5 Bryant Street in Cambridge during the academic years 1987-88 and 1988-89, before moving to larger quarters in the renovated Adolphus Busch Hall, hitherto the site of the Busch Reisinger Museum. Present facilities include offices for resident faculty members, visiting scholars and graduate associates, seminar rooms, administrative offices, and a select 5,000-volume library including works of recent history and contemporary European society and economy. The library also provides journals and air-editions of major European newspapers and weeklies.

The librarian is happy to provide guidance and can respond to requests for individual items. The seminars and study groups (described in the next section) are open to all interested students of Europe. A monthly calendar, which details meetings of the study groups, is available on request. On Fridays during term, the Center offers a modestly-priced lunch, which is open to people interested in Europe from throughout the Cambridge community.

SEMINARS AND STUDY GROUPS

The Center sponsors a number of non-credit seminars and study groups on a wide variety of topics. Some are organized around countries, others around specific themes. Unless otherwise noted, they are all open to the public.

Country Groups

British Study Group: brings together those in the area who are interested in discussing contemporary social, economic, political, and historical developments in the United Kingdom and Ireland and in the history of these nations. Speakers include scholars working on British topics and visiting British politicians and officials. Open to students, faculty, and interested visitors. (Chaired by James Alt, James Cronin and Peter Hall)

East European Study Group: examines political, economic, and social dimensions of contemporary Eastern Europe, with a special attempt this year to focus on the current political developments in Poland. Speakers include scholars, government officials, and dissidents from both East Europe and the West. Co-sponsored by the Soviet and East European Language and Area Center Program. (Chaired by Stanislaw and Anna Baranczak)

French Study Group: discusses a variety of topics concerning either the history of modern France or contemporary French politics, society, economics and culture. Presentations are made by regular members, by visiting scholars in the Boston area, and by French guests. (Chaired by George Ross and James Hollifield)

West German Study Group: meets throughout the year to discuss key issues of contemporary West German political, economic and social affairs, with special emphasis on domestic and foreign policy questions and the connections between the two. (Chaired by Lily Gardner Feldman and David Anderson)

Greek Study Group: meets to discuss the history and culture of modern Greece, and contemporary Greek politics and society. Presentations are made by members of the Harvard and greater Boston community and visiting scholars from the United States and Europe. Open to the public. (Chaired by Angeliki Laiou and Diana Haas)

Iberian Study Group: meets to discuss the recent transitions to democracy in both Iberian countries, the current experiences of Socialist governments in Spain and Portugal, and other contemporary and historical topics. Presentations are made by regular members, by visiting scholars, and by guests from the Iberian Peninsula. (Chaired by Robert Fishman, Lauren Benton and William Watson)

Italian Study Group: looks at the politics, society, economy and culture of Italy, past and present. Speakers include seminar members, local scholars, other American commentators on things Italian, and visiting Italian and foreign officials, scholars, and politicians. (Chaired by Donald Bell, Carol Mershon and Serenella Sferza)

German Democratic Republic Study Group: This study group began two years ago with a series of seminars on "The GDR in the Eastern Bloc: Contrasts, Similarities, and Interrelations." In its second year, the focus was on cultural and social policy and the quality of life, again in the East European context. The GDR Study Group is co-sponsored by the Russian Research Center. This group is on sabbatical for 1987-88, but will resume the following year. (Chaired by Marilyn Rueschemeyer and Vojtech Mastny)

Thematic Groups

Culture and Politics Study Group: meets monthly and deals with the relationship of culture to other social and political forms. Its working definition of culture embraces not merely the 'high' arts of music, painting, and literature, but also more popular media such as film and television. The study group is also concerned with the theory and practice of social behavior and the belief systems that legitimate or subvert such conduct. Among meetings planned this year are sessions on urban culture and provincial politics in France and England and on the culture of memory in twentieth-century Europe. (Chaired by Patrice Higonnet and Daniel Sherman)

The Jews in Modern Europe: an interdisciplinary group designed to bring together people who work in Jewish studies with others who work from the perspective of modern Europe. Informal talks and discussions examine aspects of the political, cultural, economic and social experiences of the Jews in modern European states. Open to all interested scholars and students. (Chaired by Phyllis Cohen Albert and Andrei Markovits)

Labor Study Group: meets to discuss the responses of labor movements in advanced industrial societies to contemporary challenges, including the structural transformation of the world economy, technological change, the changing structure of the labor force, shifting political coalitions, and changing government and business policies toward full employment, the welfare state and the role of unions. Particular emphasis is given to comparative analyses of labor strategies in the market and state arenas. (Chaired by Andrew Martin, Carmen Sirianni, and Charles Sabel)

Legal Theory: Public and Private Law: this study group will focus on the nature and role of legal issues to the development of state institutions from a comparative perspective. The American experience of judicial review will be contrasted to East and West European cases of adjudication to reveal and elaborate the role of law. The demarcation between public and private law and its effect on political debate will be an ongoing concern both historically and for contemporary politics and jurisprudence. Topics will include all issues of a legal nature that contribute to state formation and political discourse. (Chaired by Harvey Rishikof)

Parties, Elections and Representation: together with the country study groups, this group will help sponsor roundtables on European elections. It will also bring together scholars interested in a comparative perspective on the many forms of political organization and behavior that come under the rubric of party government. Issues to be examined include: changing patterns of partisan alignment and voter identification; internal party problems (organization and activism, program and ideology); party relations with state institutions and organized constituencies; and challenges to parties' mediating role between state and society (from social movements, media, etc.). (Chaired by Carol Mershon)

Social Theory Study Group: meets to examine major issues in European social theory, past and present. The group will continue to sponsor talks on social and political theory, with special attention to major trends in the various disciplines in Europe. Open to the public. (Chaired by Stephen Kalberg and Jeffrey Herf)

Study Group on Cities, Regions and Economic Change: this study group will focus on the nature and role of cities and regions, both historically and in the current period. Their relationships with larger political and economic systems, such as the state and the international economy, will be explored. Special attention will be paid to the spatial impact of economic change: effects on cities and regions of deindustrialization, the shift to the service economy, changes in financial institutions, military spending and war. Other topics may include regional separatism and regional policy; suburbanization and gentrification; and the implications of the rise and decline of cities and regions for labor organizations and political movements. (Chaired by Carol Heim and Gary Herrigel)

Study Group on Comparative Monetary Policy: the question "How are monetary policies determined and what is their impact?" is an increasingly important one. Clearly, monetary policy is implicated in the general unemployment crisis in Western Europe. However, the European economies have followed different monetary policies and achieved different results with respect to unemployment. What is the nature of these differences? Secondly, changes in the international economy, in particular increased financial integration among Western Europe and its trading partners, suggest the need to study monetary policy. This group plans to address these questions in a comparative and interdisciplinary framework, using political, economic and historical approaches. (Chaired by Juliet Schor and John Goodman)

Study Group on Comparative Science Policy: focuses on the contrasting models and experience of the United States, France and several other European countries in the allocation of resources, selection of priority projects and organization of study of significant new science policies. (Chaired by Jean de Gunzburg and Eugene Skolnikoff)

Study Group on the United States in a European Perspective: this group meets to discuss important American issues in which there are interesting European activities, history, or practice, especially in political, policy, or theoretical areas. National responses to shifts in the international economy will be the central theme around which such topics as political behavior, mass movements, and economic and social policy will be considered. Invited papers and informal talks will focus on the broad implications of the social and economic choices facing Europe and the United States by raising questions from a cross-Atlantic perspective. This group is co-sponsored by the American Center. (Chaired by Margaret Weir and S.M. Miller)

Study Group on Health, Culture and Politics: this group will meet once a month during the spring semester to discuss new theoretical orientations in Western Europe and the United States towards health, health care and health policy. Sessions will focus on empirical studies that raise important theoretical and methodological issues. Open to the public on an occasional basis. (Chaired by Ellen Immergut and Rosemary Taylor)

Study Group on Intellectuals and Politics: focuses on the relations between intellectuals and social movements, and on how intellectuals respond to changing academic, media, and political marketplaces. In the past the emphasis has been on left-wing intellectuals in the 1960s and 1970s; the group hopes to broaden its focus to encompass right-wing movements and historical studies. It will also address themes of the historical interactions between the European and American political and intellectual scenes. (Chaired by Mabel Berezin, George Ross and Ted Perlmutter)

Study Group on the State and Capitalism since 1800:

This study group, which is now in its thirteenth year, provides a critical forum for the presentation of papers on the historical development of the state and on the relationship between economic developments and the political and social structures of both European and American societies. The emphasis of the seminar is on the integration of history and theory. Its concerns range over issues in political economy, theories of the state, the explanation of social movements, and the comparative examination of state-society relations. In order to facilitate discussion, this group circulates a paper in advance of each meeting and is restricted to a fixed membership of regular participants who join at the beginning of the academic year. (Chaired by Peter Hall and George Ross)

Study Group on Women in Europe: During 1987-88, this group will take as its theme "Rethinking States and Social Structures Through the Lens of Gender," co-sponsored by the Social Science Research Council; the series is described in detail in this brochure under the heading of "Seminar Series." Other meetings will focus on women's political movements, both historical and contemporary, and issues such as women's rights, the family, reproduction, and work. (Chaired by Margaret Higonnet, Seth Koven, Sonya Michel and Deborah Valenze)

Study Group on Writing Biography: This is a new study group, interdisciplinary by nature, jointly sponsored by the Center for European Studies and the Center for Literary Studies. Scholars in many fields have recently been publishing innovative and controversial biographies which have greatly extended the boundaries of the field. Invited speakers and roundtable discussions will focus on specific lives but will also deal with such theoretical issues as the ethical problems confronting "official" biographers, the "subgenres" of autobiography, memoir and letters, psychohistory as methodological framework, and new concepts of feminist biography. (Chaired by Helena Lewis and Deborah Nord)

CONFERENCES, WORKSHOPS AND SEMINAR SERIES

LEGACIES AND NEW VISIONS THE WEST GERMAN SPD AND THE AMERICAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY (October 22-25, 1987)

These two parties have different historical and cultural roots, and different agendas. But in a very loose way they represent for both countries the institutionalized parties of "the left," labor, the welfare state, or, of "equality and growth." Each party has a long and distinguished history and now faces a crisis of ideas and constituency. The SPD, through the Godesberg Program and recent national and local elections, and the Democrats, through the Democratic Party Commission on Policy and other forums, are attempting to restructure and reorient their parties. This is a process at the intersection of ideas, politics and personalities which will be examined in this conference. By invitation only. Organized by Lily Gardner Feldman, Andrei Markovits and Jeremiah Riemer.

INSTITUTIONS OF CULTURE (March 25-27, 1988)

The first in a series of conferences that will examine the institutions that disseminate culture in its different forms to a variety of audiences; this year's colloquia will focus on the museum. This series will be concerned not so much with specific forms of cultural production but with the historical and social dynamics of selection and distribution, as well as with the theoretical elements involved in conceptualizing various art forms as "culture." Topics to be covered include the history of collecting artifacts in its social and political contexts, the investment of the state and other public bodies in projects of collecting and exhibiting art in relation to the private sector of these activities, and the extent and influence of the cultural marketplace. A second focus will be on the feasibility of constructing and presenting a national historical narrative through an exhibited collection. Other issues to be examined are the museum as a forum for wide-scale entertainment, with special attention to the "blockbuster" exhibitions. Organized by Irit Rogoff and Daniel Sherman.

THE PRAGUE SPRING AND THE POLISH EVENTS OF MARCH, 1968
(SPRING, 1988)

1988 marks the twentieth anniversary of two almost simultaneous upheavals in Czechoslovakia and in Poland. The Czechs' dramatic struggle for democratization of their political system coincided with the Polish students' and intellectuals' protest against censorship and in defense of human rights. These strivings failed to attain their goals both in Czechoslovakia and Poland but the events of 1968 have initiated a political and cultural debate which has been a formative experience for an entire generation of people living in these countries; 1968 can be viewed as the moment of emergence of today's dissident movements. The symposium will present today's perspectives on what happened in 1968 and discuss its long-lasting effects in various areas of Eastern Europe's political, social, and cultural life. Exact dates to be announced. By invitation. Organized by Anna Baranczak and Stanislaw Baranczak.

MAY '68
(April 29-May 1, 1988)

Two decades, and a generation, have passed since the social upheavals of the later 1960s in Europe. The French "events" of May-June 1968, the Italian "hot Autumn" of 1969, and the West German student movement dominated political, cultural, intellectual and social debates at the time. It was hypothesized at the time that an international trend was at work, whether a "breakdown of post-war settlements" in the direction of renewed radical social conflict, a transition from industrial to "post-industrial" societies, or a movement from modern to "post-material" values. The three-day conference organized by the Center will examine the actual consequences for the societies in which these events occurred. Looking specifically at France, West Germany and Italy, participants will address the consequences for subsequent cultural and intellectual life, for educational systems, and for politics. Efforts will be made to examine the impact of the Prague Spring and the Polish Events of the preceding March (see above) as well. By invitation. Organized by George Ross and Stanley Hoffmann.

RETHINKING STATES AND SOCIAL STRUCTURES THROUGH THE LENS OF GENDER

Using "the lens of gender," this series will undertake a comparative analysis of the development of social policy in Western Europe and North America from 1870 to 1920, decades traditionally associated with the emergence of state welfare programs. The series will examine gender relations and the role of women, as well as male- and female-dominated organizations, in defining issues and implementing policies. The concept for this seminar grows out of several previous projects at the Center, including the Workshops on Women and War (1984) and on the Feminization of the Labor Force (1986), as well as the ongoing work of the organizers. Eight experts on the history of social policy will be invited to present papers to the seminar, which will have a fixed, limited membership. Co-sponsored by the Social Science Research Council and the CES Study Group on Women in Europe. Organized by Frances Gouda, Patrice Higonnet, Jane Jenson, Seth Koven, Sonya Michel and Jennifer Schirmer.

NEW PUBLICATIONS

Center for European Studies

Working Papers Series

Peter A. Hall, Editor

A new series which began in the fall of 1986, these papers are selected by the Executive Committee and the Editor, Peter Hall, as among the outstanding papers presented at study groups or conferences at the Center. Papers can be ordered through the Center's Publications Office for $3.50 each. The series includes:

Gavyn Davies, The Macroeconomic Record of the British Conservatives. Gavyn Davies, the U.K. Economist for Goldman, Sachs and Co., reviews the economic record of the 1979-1986 Conservative Government in Britain and examines competing explanations for the performance of the economy over this period. The paper is one of the most sophisticated and synthetic accounts of Thatcher's macroeconomic policies currently available.

Peter Jelavich, At a Confluence of Cultural History: Cabarets in Berlin, 1901-1944. The moderate censorship of the Wilhelmine era, the total freedom of expression in the Weimar Republic, and the stifling of the arts in the Third Reich provoked changing responses from cabarets. Not too surprisingly, the Weimar era witnessed the widest range of political statement, ranging from mild satire to the aggressive propaganda of communist "agit-prop". Culturally, too, cabaret was caught up in dynamic processes, inasmuch as it influenced, and in turn was affected by, changing tastes in "elite" culture (theater, lyric poetry) and "mass" entertainment (vaudeville, revue, film). The author is in the Department of History of the University of Texas at Austin.

Andrei S. Markovits, The Other "American Exceptionalism": Why Is There No Soccer in the United States? The paper argues that the absence of soccer as a mass sport in American culture closely relates to the absence of a large party with a socialist/social democratic ideology anchored in the working class, a phenomenon commonly referred to as "American exceptionalism." With the help of detailed empirical material from a number of sports in the United States and Great Britain, the paper demonstrates how America's early and thorough embourgeoisement created baseball and American football, thereby "crowding out" this country's "sport space" when soccer embarked on its triumphant global conquest from its British birthplace. An introduction has been written by Charles S. Maier, Professor of History at Harvard. Markovits is a member of the Political Science Department at Boston University.

Samuel Cohn, Plagues, Consciousness and High Culture in the Early Renaissance. Last wills and testaments form a "text" for discovering a new chronology in the letters of Francesco Petrarch. These letters in turn provide the key for adding meaning to the bare bones of statistical analysis. Both sources demonstrate that the cataclysmic mortality of 1348 did not rock the ready-made psychology of mendicant piety. Instead, the second coming of pestilence shook both sources of culture and broke century-old notions of the individual, "this-worldly" activity, and the afterlife. Cohn teaches in the Department of History, Brandeis University.

Aya Crébas and Dick Pels, Carmen: The Social Construction of a New Feminine Myth. This paper examines the sudden resurgence of interest in the personage of Carmen, Mérimée's and Bizet's alluring gypsy, in a variety of taste-modelling media (opera, film, fashion magazines, pop music) since the spring of 1984, and wonders about the apparent moral reversal which separates this new stylized persona from the more conventional image of Carmen as femme fatale. It goes on to search both novella and opera for traces of an "authentic" Carmen, and briefly explores to what extent they metaphorically draw upon female types in the marginal world of Bohemian Paris. It concludes by explaining the attractiveness of the new Carmen myth by connecting it to the recent "Bohemian" cult of individualistic bachelordom and "amicable" love as well as the even more recent (post-)feminist rediscovery of femininity. The authors are in the Department of Sociology of the University of Amsterdam.

French Politics & Society

French Politics & Society is the publication of the Conference Group on French Politics & Society, an organization of eminent North American scholars working on different aspects of contemporary French political life. Edited by Stanley Hoffmann, George Ross and Trudi Koziol, recent issues have contained essay articles on such topics as the Socialist Party's preparation for 1988, nationalism on the far right, the nuclear energy and telecommunications industries, France and the Russian Revolutions, and the revival of the art of tapestry in the Fourth Republic. In addition to the main articles, each issue contains numerous book reviews, conference reports, research information, announcements of coming workshops and meetings, and Conference Group news. An annual subscription is $15.00. For further information, please contact the Publications Office.

German Politics & Society

German Politics & Society is a triannual which focuses on contemporary political, economic and social issues in the Federal Republic and the Democratic Republic. Each issue focuses on a contemporary theme. For 1987-88, the themes of the three prospective issues are: Berlin's 750th anniversary, the debate over historicism, and regionalism. In addition, each issue contains book reviews, conference reports, information on German Studies programs, and notices of coming meetings and conferences. The editors are Guido Goldman, Lily Gardner Feldman, Andrei Markovits, and Trudi Koziol. German Politics & Society was previously published under the title German Studies Newsletter. The annual subscription rate for three issues per year is $15. For further information, please contact the Publications Office.

NEW BOOKS

Behind the Lines: Gender and the Two World Wars, edited by Margaret Higonnet, Jane Jenson, Sonya Michel and Margaret Weitz (Yale University Press, 1987). This anthology stems from the conference held at the Center on "Women and War" and contains essays by Yasmine Ergas, Sarah Fishman, Sandra Gilbert, Jenny Gould, Susan Gubar, Steven Hause, Karin Hausen, Patrice Higonnet, Lynn Layton, Ruth Milkman, Michelle Perrot, Denise Riley, Paula Schwartz, Joan Scott, Elaine Showalter, Anne-Marie Tröger, and the editors. The book examines the reconstitution of gender relations during and after the two world wars. Drawing on broad comparative material—from government policy to popular media, poetry and fiction, and personal letters—the book demonstrates that the redefinition of gender occurred behind the lines in World Wars I and II.

The French Socialist Experiment: Continuity and Change in Mitterrand's France, edited by George Ross, Stanley Hoffmann and Sylvia Malzacher (Polity Press/Oxford University Press/Presses Universitaires de France, 1987). The Mitterrand Experiment is an in-depth analysis of the events and consequences of the five-year period of Left power in France after 1981—the longest moment of such power in modern French history. The years of Left government are set in historical contexts and examined by leading specialists from France and the United States. The book is organized into sections on economics and economic policy, the politics of the Left in power, the effects of the Left's reforms on different areas of French life, and the place of France in the world.

Feminization of the Labor Force: Paradoxes and Promises, edited by Elisabeth Hagen, Jane Jenson and Ceal-laigh Reddy (Polity Press/Oxford University Press, 1987).

This book is drawn from a conference held at the Center in March 1986. In earlier studies of the labor force there was a tendency to assume that the "model worker" was a man with a dependent family. This model no longer holds true. In many ways women are now the model workers for this time of economic restructuring—"willing" to work at unskilled automated jobs; "willing" to work for low wages and flexible hours. An important aspect of economic restructuring is that women's work—often part-time, in dead-end jobs and concentrated in low-paid sectors—is essential to economies dominated by services and new technologies and facing an unfamiliar international division of economic power. The book explores these changes by examining the ways that employers, states and trade unions, as well as women themselves, have responded and constructed new relations for the new conditions. The situations of seven European and North American countries constitute the case material of the book.

Food for Thought: Recipes from the Center for European Studies, 1987; introduction by Charles S. Maier. Wonderful food created and served throughout the years at the Center Christmas party, annual picnic, and other celebratory events. Over 70 recipes ranging from Assistant Professor's Pasta to Zucchini Provençale. A concluding essay by Andy Markovits discusses the better culinary choices from the local food trucks. Order from the CES Publications Office at the cost of $6.95.

FELLOWSHIPS

Fellowship Workshop

A workshop for Harvard and MIT graduate students submitting applications for dissertation grants will take place in mid-October (check the monthly calendar for exact date). Other resource materials will be available at the Center. (Chaired by Charles S. Maier and Suzanne Berger)

Krupp Foundation Fellowship

The Krupp Foundation Fellowship in European Studies provides funds for graduate students in the Faculty of Arts and Sciences at Harvard working on dissertation topics concerning Europe in the post-1750 period. Applications are accepted from students in the Departments of Anthropology, Economics, Government, History, Philosophy, Psychology, and Sociology. Highly theoretical topics, or topics which do not require research in Europe, will not be accepted. Recipients are required to spend a minimum of six to nine months abroad. In some cases, a half-year grant will be given. Information about this year's competition and application forms can be obtained from the Center in October 1987. The deadline for application is January 8, 1988.

Center for European Studies Summer Travel Grants

The Center gives grants for summer research in Europe to undergraduates and graduate students in the Faculty of Arts and Sciences at Harvard and MIT writing theses and dissertations on political, historical, economic, and intellectual trends in Europe since 1750. Interested applicants must have their topics and status cleared prior to application. Forms will be available at the Center in January 1988; the deadline for application is March 7, 1988.

FRIDAY LUNCH

Lunch is available at the Center on Fridays throughout the academic year. This is an opportunity for visiting Europeans, students and faculty from all parts of the University and interested non-scholars to get together informally. Reservations are not required.

RESEARCH ASSOCIATES

SENIOR ASSOCIATES

JAMES E. ALT, Political Economist. Alt is Professor of Government at Harvard University. His publications include The Politics of Economic Decline, Cambridge University Press, 1979; Political Economics (with K.A. Chrystal), University of California Press, 1983; and Cabinet Studies (co-edited with V. Herman), Macmillan, 1975, as well as numerous articles in scholarly journals, including "Partisan Dealignment in Britain, 1964-1974," in the British Journal of Political Science, 1977, and "Political Parties, World Demand, and Unemployment," in the American Political Science Review, 1985. His present research deals with international and domestic sources of economic activity and economic policy in industrial nations. He is co-editor of the Cambridge Series on "The Political Economy of Institutions and Decisions."

SUZANNE BERGER, Political Scientist. Berger is Ford International Professor of Political Science at MIT. Among her publications are Peasants Against Politics, Harvard University Press, 1972; The French Political System, Random House, 1973; Dualism and Discontinuity in Industrial Societies (with M. Piore), Cambridge University Press, 1981; she edited and contributed to Organizing Interests in Western Europe, Cambridge University Press, 1981; and Religion and Politics in Western Europe, Frank Cass, 1982. With A.O. Hirschman and C.S. Maier, she is co-editor of the Cambridge University Press Series: Studies in Modern Political Economies. She is working on the political determinants of investment decisions.

GUIDO GOLDMAN, Political Scientist. Goldman is Director of the Center for European Studies and of the McCloy Scholars Program at the Kennedy School and Advisor to the German Kennedy Memorial Fellows. His special fields of interest are U.S. foreign policy and German politics. His first book, The German Political System, was published in 1974; a second book on Germany is now in progress.

PATRICE HIGONNET, Historian. Higonnet is Goelet Professor of French History at Harvard. He has written on a variety of topics in French history, 18th century French diplomacy, 19th century French deputies and immigrants, 20th century municipal officers and Vichy, and has just finished a book on the comparative histories of the French and American Revolutions. He is currently working on a comparative history of France and America in the 18th century, and on the theme of suicide in 18th century France.

STANLEY HOFFMANN, Political Scientist and Chairman of the Center for European Studies. Hoffmann is the C. Douglas Dillon Professor of the Civilization of France. He has published many books and articles including Gulliver's Troubles, or the Setting of American Foreign Policy, McGraw Hill, 1968; Decline or Renewal? France since the '30s, Viking, 1974; Primacy or World Order, McGraw Hill, 1978; Duties Beyond Borders, Syracuse University Press, 1980; The Fifth Republic at Twenty, (co-edited with W. Andrews), SUNY Press, 1981; Dead Ends, Ballinger, 1983; and Janus and Minerva, Westview, 1986. He is also one of the authors of Living with Nuclear Weapons, Harvard University Press, 1983, and co-editor of The Mitterrand Experiment, Polity, 1987. He will be on leave in 1987-88, working on a book on France's decline and renovation, 1934-1946.

OLWEN HUFTON, Historian. Hufton is Professor of History and Women's Studies and Chairman of the Women's Studies Committee at Harvard. Her special interests lie in early modern French history and focus on poverty, crime, violence, riot; the history of women, particularly women's work; the structure of the rural community and attitudes towards authority. Her works include Bayeux in the Late Eighteenth Century, Oxford, 1967; The Poor of Eighteenth Century France, Oxford, 1974; Europe: Privilege and Protest, London, 1981; and articles on crime and riot in Annales, The Journal of Interdisciplinary History, and other journals. In press is a history of Women in Early Modern Europe, to be published by Knopf, and she is currently working on a study of popular mentalities in eighteenth century France. Hufton is on the editorial board of Past and Present and is co-editor with John Elliot and Helie Koenigsberger of the Cambridge History of Early Modern Europe series.

CHARLES MAIER, Historian. Maier is Professor of European history at Harvard. During the current academic year, he will be teaching courses on World War II, postwar Western Europe, a graduate seminar and a colloquium. He is working on a history of the United States and European reconstruction after 1945, and is editing a volume on Germany and the Marshall Plan. He is the author of Recasting Bourgeois Europe, Princeton University Press, 1975; co-editor of The Politics of Global Inflation and Stagnation, Brookings, 1985; and editor of Changing Boundaries of the Political, Cambridge University Press, 1987. A collection of his own essays, In Search of Stability: Explorations in Historical and Political Economy will also appear in 1987, and a short book concerning the recent West German historical controversy over the uniqueness or comparability of the Holocaust and Nazi dictatorship is scheduled for 1988. During 1987-88, Maier will serve as Acting Chairman of the Center.

ALESSANDRO PIZZORNO, Sociologist. Pizzorno holds the Krupp Foundation Chair in European Studies and is teaching in the Sociology Department at Harvard. He came to the University from the University of Milan, but he has also taught at the Universities of Teheran and Urbino. He was the director of a comparative project on social conflicts in six European countries, which was published in two volumes by Macmillan (London) in 1978 as The Resurgence of Class Conflict in Western Europe since 1968 (with C. Crouch). He has many publications including six volumes of Lotte operaie e sindacati in Italia, 1968-1972, Il Mulino, 1973-1978; and a collection of essays: I Soggetti del pluralismo, Il Mulino, 1980. His current interests are on questions of social control and the epistemological problems of the "rational choice" approach. Pizzorno is on leave this year at the European University in Florence.

ROBERT PUTNAM, Political Scientist. Putnam is Professor of Government and Chairman of the Department at Harvard, specializing in the comparative politics and international relations of Western Europe. He is currently finishing major research projects on institution-building in the Italian regions and on international economic coordination. His publications include The Beliefs of Politicians: Ideology, Conflict and Democracy in Britain and Italy, Yale University Press, 1973; Comparative Study of Political Elites, Prentice-Hall, 1976; Bureaucrats and Politicians in Western Democracies, Harvard University Press, 1981; and Hanging Together: the Seven-Power Summits, Harvard University Press and Sage, 1987.

GEORGE ROSS, Political Sociologist. Ross is Morris Hillquit Professor in Labor and Social Thought and Chair of the Department of Sociology at Brandeis University, where he teaches courses on comparative, industrial and political sociology. Recent books include The View from the Inside: A French Communist Cell in Crisis (with J. Jenson), University of California Press, 1984; Unions, Crisis and Change, Volume I of the Center series on European trade union responses to economic crisis, with P. Lange and M. Vannicelli, George Allen & Unwin, 1982; Workers and Communists in France, University of California Press, 1982. Ross also collaborated on Volume II of the Center trade union series, edited The French Socialist Experiment: Continuity and Change in Mitterrand's France with S. Hoffmann and S. Malzacher, Polity Press, 1987, and co-edited Contemporary France (with J. Howorth), Frances Pinter, 1987. Ross is co-editor, with Stanley Hoffmann, of French Politics and Society, published by the Center. Recent articles have appeared in Politics and Society, Theory and Society, The Socialist Register 1985-86, and a number of other edited volumes. Current research interests include the comparative sociology of intellectuals in advanced societies, Left strategies, labor and social change.

SIMON SCHAMA, Historian. Schama is Professor of European History at Harvard. His special interests lie in the social and cultural history of the 17th, 18th and early 19th centuries in northern Europe, and the Netherlands in particular. He is the author of Patriots and Liberators: Revolution in the Netherlands 1780-1813, 1977; Two Rothschilds and the Land of Israel, 1979; and The Embarrassment of Riches: An Interpretation of Dutch Culture in its Golden Age, 1987. He was a Guggenheim Fellow in 1983-84. Current interests center on iconog-raphy and the relationship between ideology, form and subject matter in European painting in the early modern period. Essays on "Rembrandt and Women," royal family portraiture ("The Domestication of Majesty") and "The Sexual Economy of Genre Painting" have been published and are being collected in a book concerned with historical themes and painterly strategies. During his sabbatical leave in 1987-88, he is writing a one-volume narrative account of the French Revolution.

TONY SMITH, Political Scientist. Smith is Professor of Political Science at Tufts University where he teaches courses on imperialism and communism. He is the author of The End of European Empire, The French Stake in Algeria and The Pattern of Imperialism: The United States, Great Britain, and the Late-Industrializing World since 1815. In addition, he has published numerous articles on Third World studies and U.S. foreign policy. Smith's latest book, Thinking Like a Communist, was published by Norton in 1987.

RESEARCH ASSOCIATES

PHYLLIS COHEN ALBERT, Historian. Albert is Visiting Associate Professor of Jewish History at Brown University, and is completing a book on the evolution of ideologies in the French Jewish community since 1945. Her other research interests include the social, intellectual, and institutional history of nineteenth-century French Jews, anti-Semitism in nineteenth-century France, and Jews and politics in Modern Europe. Her publications include The Modernization of French Jewry: Consistory and Community in 19th Century France, Brandeis University Press, 1977; "Ethnicity and Jewish Solidarity in 19th Century France," Essays in Jewish Intellectual History in Honor of Alexander Altmann, Duke University Press, 1979; "Le rôle des consistoires israélites vers le milieu du XIX siècle," Revue des Etudes Juives, CXXX, 1971; and "Contemporary Perceptions of French Jewry and a Political Entity," Proceedings of the Western Society for French History, IX, 1982. Albert is co-chair of the Center's Study Group on The Jews in Modern Europe.

DAVID ANDERSON, Political Scientist. Anderson is currently Warburg Professor of International Relations at Simmons College. In January 1988, he will become the Director of the Aspen Institute in West Berlin. He served as U.S. Ambassador to Yugoslavia from 1981-1985. A professional Foreign Service Officer for 25 years, Anderson also served in Mali, Belgium, and West Germany, where he was U.S. Minister in Berlin (1978-81). He is a specialist in Eastern and Central European affairs, with a particular interest in Germany. Anderson will co-chair the Center's German Study Group in the fall term.

ANNA BARANCZAK, Literary Historian. Anna Baranczak taught courses in Polish literature and theory of literature at Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznan, Poland, and since 1986 has been Preceptor in Polish Language at Harvard. She has published a book on the semiotics of the Polish popular song and a number of articles dealing with literature, music, and semiotics of popular culture. Her chief interest is contemporary Polish culture in its relation to sociopolitical life. She is co-chair of the East European Study Group.

STANISLAW BARANCZAK, Literary Historian. Stanislaw Baranczak taught courses in Polish literature at Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznan, Poland, and since 1981 has been at Harvard, first as Associate Professor of Slavic Literatures, and then as Alfred Jurzykowski Professor of Polish Language and Literature. He has published numerous books of poetry, poetic translations from English and Russian into Polish, and criticism, most recently A Fugitive from Utopia: The Poetry of Zbigniew Herbert. He currently works on several projects dealing with post-1944 Polish poetry. He is co-chair of the East European Study Group.

MARZIO BARBAGLI, Sociologist. Barbagli is Professor of Sociology at the University of Bologna, Italy. His most recent publications include Educating for Unemployment. Politics, Labor Markets and the School System, Italy, 1859-1973, Columbia University Press, 1982 and a book on the social history of the Italian family: Sotto lo stesso tetto. Mutamenti della famiglia in Italia dal XV al XX secolo, Bologna, Il Mulino, 1984. He has published numerous articles and books on political parties and participation in Italy and on history of family and education in Europe. Barbagli is currently working on a book on social mobility in Italy.

ELAZAR BARKAN, Historian. Barkan teaches in Social Studies and the History of Science Department at Harvard. His interests include comparative intellectual and social history, and specifically the history of the social sciences with an emphasis on anthropology. This year he is revising his dissertation "From Racism to Ethnicity—Race Concepts in England and the United States Between the Two World Wars." His publications include "Mobilizing Scientists Against Racism: The Anthropological Communities in Britain and America in the 1930s," in G. Stocking, ed., History of Anthropology, 5, 1987; "Science: Utilitarianism or Democracy, (Response to Render)," Social Epistemology, 1, 3, 1987.

DONALD BELL, Historian. Bell specializes in courses on European social and economic history, comparative labor and working class history, the history of the family, and modern Italy. He will be on leave this year, pursuing research (funded by the N.E.H.) on the social sources of Communism in Emilia-Romagna (and the city of Bologna). Among his publications are "Worker Culture and Worker Politics: The Experience of an Italian Town, 1880-1915," Social History, 1978; "Working-Class Culture and Fascism in an Italian Industrial Town, 1918-1922," Social History, 1984; Sesto San Giovanni: Workers, Culture, and Politics in an Italian Industrial Town, 1880-1922, Rutgers University Press, 1986 (Italian translation, Il Mulino, 1987); and The New England Working Class and the New Labor History (co-edited with the late Herbert G. Gutman), University of Illinois Press, 1986.

SEYLA BENHABIB, Philosopher and Political Theorist. Benhabib is Associate Professor of Political Theory in the Department of Government at Harvard. Her book on the origins and transformations of the concept of social critique from Hegel to Habermas has recently appeared from Columbia University Press and is entitled Critique, Norm and Utopia: A Study of the Foundations of Critical Theory (1986). She has published on the history of German political thought, the critical theories of the Frankfurt School and Habermas, recent developments in philosophy (Lyotard and post-modernism; Habermas, Rorty and Gadamer disputes), and feminist theory. She is currently working on the revival of Aristotle in social and political thought, particularly on the work of H. Arendt, H. G. Gadamer, A. MacIntyre and C. Castoriadis. A second strand of her research focuses on the contribution of recent feminist theory to moral and political philosophy. She is particularly interested in pursuing questions related to women and ethics, and the transformations in our concepts of the public and the private. She is co-editor-in-chief of Praxis International, the translator of Herbert Marcuse's Hegel's Ontologie und die Theorie der Geschichtlichkeit, MIT Press, 1987, the co-editor with D. Cornell of Feminism as Critique, Polity Press, 1987, and with F. Dallmayr of the Communicative Ethics Controversy, (forthcoming) MIT Press.

WILLIAM BUXTON, Sociologist. Buxton is Associate Professor of Sociology at the University of New Brunswick, Canada. His teaching and research interests include social theory, political sociology, sociology of development, and the history of the social sciences. Author of Talcott Parsons and the Capitalist Nation-State: Political Sociology as a Strategic Vocation, University of Toronto Press, 1985, he has recently published articles on the correspondence between Parsons, Alfred Schutz, and Eric Voegelin and on Karl Mannheim's role as a political intellectual. He is currently editing Social Definitions and National Morale: Selected Early Writings of Talcott Parsons for Princeton University Press, and is beginning a study on the interplay between authoritarian states and the new international division of labor.

WOLFGANG CORNETZ, Economist. Cornetz holds a two-year post-doctoral fellowship from the Deutsche Forschungs-Gemeinschaft. On that fellowship he is doing a comparative project on different employment trends in the service-producing sectors of the United States and West Germany. He has research interests in employment and labor market theory and policy and regional economics. His publications include: "Theorie und Empirie des Arbeitskraftangebots," Mitteilungen aus der Arbeitsmarkt- und Berufsforschung, no. 3, Nürnberg, 1986; "Schattenwirtschaft und Erwerbsbeteiligung," Wirtschaftsdienst, no. 5, Hamburg, 1986; Determinanten der Erwerbsbeteiligung, Frankfurt-Bern-New York, 1985. Cornetz comes to the Center from the University of Bremen.

JAMES CRONIN, Historian. Cronin teaches European social and economic history at Boston College. He is the author of Industrial Conflict in Modern Britain, 1979 and of Labour and Society in Britain, 1918-1979, 1984; and he has co-edited with J. Schneer, Social Conflict and the Political Order in Modern Britain, 1982, and with C. Sir-ianni, Work, Community and Power: The Experience of Labor in Europe and North America, 1900-1925, 1983. He is currently working on a study of the politics of state expansion in twentieth-century Britain. He is co-chair of the British Study Group.

PIER PAOLO D'ATTORRE, Historian. D'Attorre has done research on US-Italian economic and political relations in the second post-war period at the European University Institute, Florence. As research associate in the Department of History, University of Bologna, he is completing a book on the Marshall Plan in Italy. He has published articles on the same subject in Italia contemporanea, Quaderni Storici, and Passato e Presente. Recent publications include the editing of several books on regional aspects of Italian society in the 1930s and the 1950s: La Ricostruzione in Emilia Romagna, Parma, 1980, Bologna. Città e territorio tra '800 e '900, Milano, 1983. He is currently revising a study on the modernization of rural society in the Po Valley, as part of a research project of the Department of Italian Studies, Reading, and King's College, London.

JEAN DE GUNZBURG, Biochemist. De Gunzburg comes to the Center from the Institut Pasteur in Paris, where his work has emphasized advanced research in biochemistry, microbiology, and development in biology. He received his Doctorat d'Etat in 1985 and holds the position of chargé de recherche at the Centre National de Recherche Scientifique, from which he is on leave. While in Cambridge, de Gunzburg will work at the Whitehead Institute for Biomedical Research on some fundamental aspects of cellular proliferation/cancer; he will also continue to pursue research on comparative science policy in France and the United States and co-chair the study group at the Center on Comparative Science Policy.

LILY GARDNER FELDMAN, Political Scientist. Gardner Feldman is currently Associate Professor of Political Science at Tufts University. Her main research has focused on German foreign policy, particularly with respect to the Middle East and the European Community. Her major publication in this area is The Special Relationship between West Germany and Israel, George Allen & Unwin, 1984. Her current research centers on the moral and political rehabilitation of the Federal Republic in the international arena. A secondary interest involves the role of the Länder in foreign policy as part of a project on comparative federalism and international relations.

ROBERT FISHMAN, Political Sociologist. Fishman is Assistant Professor of Government and Social Studies at Harvard. He will be on leave during the 1987-88 academic year with the support of a National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowship. His research will examine the aftermath of unsuccessful revolutions in several European democracies during the interwar years. His study on "Working Class Organization and Political Change: The Labor Movement and the Transition to Democracy in Spain," is to be published by Cornell University Press. He has written articles on Spanish labor and on redemocratization in Southern Europe. Fishman's research and teaching interests include changing patterns of working class politics, political regime transitions, and contemporary Spanish politics.

LEIGH HAFREY, Editor. Hafrey is on the staff of The New York Times Book Review, where he evaluates and assigns for review books in literary criticism, intellectual history, science and technology, and European fiction. Before joining The Times in 1984, he taught literature and writing at Yale, Harvard, and M.I.T. His publications include translations of novels and essays from the French and German (Marguerite Duras, Martin Walser, Peter Schneider, and others), as well as essays, reviews and interviews for The New York Times and other American and British periodicals. He is currently working on a book about cultural dislocation and cultural homogeneity, focusing on East-West and North-South relations.

PETER A. HALL, Political Economist. Hall is an Associate Professor of Government at Harvard, teaching courses on Western European politics, comparative public policy and methods of political analysis. His publications include Governing the Economy, Oxford University Press, 1986; "Socialism in One Country" in Socialism, the State and Public Policy in France, Methuen, 1985; "Economic Planning and the State," in Political Power and Social Theory, Vol. III; "Cultural Myths and Economic Realities," in Stato e Mercato, April 1981; "Policy Innovation and the Structure of the State," in The Annals, March 1983, and "Patterns of Economic Policy: An Organizational Approach," in the Center's casebook The State in Capitalist Europe, George Allen & Unwin, 1984. Current research interests include European public policy, macroeconomic policy-making in Britain, and theories of state-society relations. In the fall of 1987, Hall will be in Britain on a German Marshall Fund Fellowship to pursue research in comparative public policy.

CAROL HEIM, Economic Historian. Heim is Assistant Professor of Economics at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst. She studies historical and theoretical aspects of accumulation and uneven development. Her current research focuses on the evolution of cities in Britain and the United States, and on regional economic decline and restructuring in Britain, including effects of World War II and conflicts in postwar policy objectives on the location of industry. Recent publications include "Limits to Intervention: The Bank of England and Industrial Diversification in the Depressed Areas," Economic History Review, November 1984; "Interest Rates and Crowding-Out During Britain's Industrial Revolution" (with P. Mirowski), Journal of Economic History, March 1987; and "R & D, Defense, and Spatial Divisions of Labor in Twentieth-Century Britain," Journal of Economic History, June 1987. She holds an Alfred P. Sloan Research Fellowship for 1986-88.

MARGARET HIGONNET, Literary Critic. Professor of English and Comparative Literature at the University of Connecticut, Higonnet teaches courses in nineteenth and twentieth-century literature and theory. Her research interests are feminist criticism, romanticism, and suicide. She has edited The Representation of Women in Fiction, Johns Hopkins, 1982 and written essays on Madame de Stael and women's suicide. She co-edited Behind the Lines: Gender and the Two World Wars, Yale University Press, 1987, from a Center for European Studies Workshop. Other recent work includes essays on Hardy, Constant, Bachelard, and Benjamin. She edits Children's Literature. In 1987, she will be completing, with P. Higonnet, The Welcome Guest: The Debate on Suicide in Eighteenth-Century France, Harvard University Press. Higonnet is co-chair of the Study Group on Women in Europe.

JAMES HOLLIFIELD, Political Scientist. Hollifield is Assistant Professor of Politics at Brandeis University, specializing in comparative politics, political economy and public policy. His publications include a forthcoming book on The Political Economy of Immigration (currently under review); "Immigration Policy in France and Germany," The Annals, May 1986; "Buts et résultats de la politique migratoire française," Revue française de science politique, forthcoming; and other articles on immigration and French politics. Current research interests include immigration and the politics of labor markets, French politics, democratic theory and theories of the state, and the political development of Western Europe. Hollifield is co-chair of the French Study Group.

TOBY HUFF, Sociologist. Professor of Sociology, Southeastern Massachusetts University. Founder and former Director of the Center for Policy Analysis at SMU, Huff is the author of Max Weber and the Methodology of the Social Sciences (1984), and editor of On the Roads to Modernity: Conscience, Science and Civilizations. Selected Writings by Benjamin Nelson (1981). One of his current projects is a book on the convergent methodologies of the social sciences of Karl Popper and Max Weber (with G. Stokes). A key part of the study is an analysis of survey methodology in the light of its foundations in methodological individualism and the problem this poses for studying institutional formations and "structural" processes. Huff is also working on the analysis of survey data on microcomputers using national and cross-national surveys through the use of new programs such as "Chipendale." The intent of this effort is to create teaching and research "laboratories" which serve to link theory and empirical research. Huff has served as an applied social scientist and consultant to state and local governments in southeastern Massachusetts.

PETER HUGHES, Literary Historian and Critic. Hughes is Ordinarius Professor of English and American Literature at the University of Zurich. His teaching and research interests include literary theory and history, and European literatures of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. His most recent publications concern Hamlet as a "trauerspiel" (Comparative Criticism, 1987) and Joyce's reading of Michelet and Vico (Vico and Joyce, ed. D. P. Verene, 1987). He has recently completed a book on V. S. Naipaul, which will be published by Methuen. Hughes is currently working on the relations between autobiographical writing and cultural theory in Vico, Coleridge, and Michelet.

ELLEN IMMERGUT, Political Sociologist. Immergut is Assistant Professor of Political Science at MIT, where she teaches courses on the politics of public policy, institutional approaches to the welfare state, and comparative public policy. She is now revising her dissertation, "The Political Construction of Interests: National Health Insurance Politics in Sweden, France and Switzerland, 1930-1970." New research will expand on two themes of the thesis: the links between social insurance and political representation, and the role of central-local governmental relationships in the development of the welfare state. She has published articles on "Health Care and the Boundaries of Politics" (co-authored with P. Starr) and on "Sickness Pay and Social Control."

JANE JENSON, Political Scientist. Jenson is Professor of Political Science at Carleton University in Ottawa. Her research interests include the welfare state, social movements and politics in advanced industrial societies, strategy and internal life of the PCF, and Canadian political economy. Her publications include articles on the PCF, the European, and especially French, women's movement, the French Left in government, and the political economy of North America. She has published a number of articles and books including The View from Inside: A French Communist Cell in Crisis (with G. Ross), University of California Press, 1984; Absent Mandate: The Politics of Discontent in Canada (with Clarke et al.), Gage, 1984; and Crisis, Challenge and Change: Party and Class in Canada (with J. Brodie), Methuen, 1980. She is an editor of Behind the Lines: Gender and the Two World Wars, Yale University Press, 1987, and of The Feminization of the Labor Force: Paradoxes and Promises, Polity Press, forthcoming 1988. In 1988, she will hold the W.L. Mackenzie King Chair in Canadian Studies at the Harvard Center for International Affairs.

STEPHEN KALBERG, Sociologist. Kalberg has taught at the Universities of Tübingen and Trier. He is the author of numerous articles on Max Weber, including most recently, "Max Weber," in The Encyclopedia of the Social Sciences, Routledge & Kegan Paul, 1985; and "Max Weber's Soziologie des ethischen Handelns," in J. Weiss, ed., Max Weber Heute, Suhrkamp, 1987. His book, Max Weber's Comparative Historical Sociology: A Reconstruction, will be published by Routledge in 1988. His recent research includes several projects that compare Germany and the United States. Utilizing Weber's paradigm, a longer study examines the degree to which trust penetrates public spheres in each country. Shorter investigations explore the rise of cultural pessimism in nineteenth century Germany and compare German and American interaction forms. He is also the author of "A 'National Political Identity Crisis' in the Federal Republic of Germany?" in German Politics and Society, January 1987; "West German and American Interaction Forms: One Level of Structured Misunderstanding," in Theory, Culture and Society, October 1987; and "The Origin and Expansion of Kulturpessimismus: The Relationship between Public and Private Spheres in Twentieth Century Germany" in Sociological Theory, September 1987. Kalberg is co-chair of the Center's Social Theory Study Group.

SETH KOVEN, Historian. A Lecturer in History and Literature, Koven has recently completed an analysis of the settlement house movement as a study of cultural theory and politics in late Victorian and Edwardian society. His current research interests include women and the welfare state and the institutions of culture. He is co-chair of the Study Group on Women in Europe.

ANGELIKI E. LAIOU, Historian. Laiou is Professor of Byzantine History at Harvard. Her special interests center on Byzantine social and economic history, the history of the family in the Byzantine Empire, and the history of trade in the Mediterranean in the Middle Ages. She has also worked extensively on the Greek Resistance movement and the Civil War (1941-1949). Her publications include Peasant Society in the Late Byzantine Empire: A Social and Demographic Study, Princeton University Press, 1977; "The Byzantine Economy in the Mediterranean Trade System," Dumbarton Oaks Papers, 34-35 (1980-81), 177-222; "The Politics of Hunger: Economic Aid to Greece, 1943-45," Journal of the Hellenic Diaspora, 1980; and "Population Movements in the Greek Countryside during the Civil War," in press.

HELENA LEWIS, Historian. Lewis was a history professor at Appalachian State University in North Carolina and is also a former Fellow of the Bunting Institute of Radcliffe College. Her book, The Politics of the French Surrealists 1919-1945 will be published by Paragon House this fall, and she contributed a chapter on Louis Aragon to European Writers: The Twentieth Century, to be published by Scribners. She is now writing a biography of Elsa Triolet, left-wing novelist and heroine of the French Resistance. This year she will co-chair the new Study Group on Biography.

ANDREI MARKOVITS, Political Scientist. Markovits is Associate Professor of Political Science at Boston University. He has written numerous articles and reviews on such issues as labor politics, student politics and education, right-wing movements and fascism, Americanism and anti-Americanism in Europe, comparative social democracy, and Jewish affairs. He is author of The Politics of the West German Trade Unions: Strategies of Class and Interest Representation in Growth and Crisis, Cambridge University Press, 1986, and editor of The Political Economy of West Germany: Modell Deutschland, Praeger, 1982. He is also co-editor of Crises of Legitimacy in Ten Liberal Democracies: A Comparative Study of Political Scandals; Nationbuilding and the Politics of Nationalism: Essays on Austrian Galicia; Problems of World Modelling: Political and Social Implications; Fear of Science-Trust in Science: Conditions for Change in the Climate of Opinion; and Advances in the Social Sciences since 1900. With C. Allen, he has researched the German section of the Center's project on Trade Union Responses to Contemporary Economic Problems in Western Europe. For Polity Press/Basil Blackwell/Oxford University Press, Markovits is writing The West German Left: Red, Green and Beyond.

ANDREW MARTIN, Political Scientist. Martin teaches international political economy in the Politics Department at Brandeis University; he also participates in a research project at MIT on labor and technological change in the auto industry. His most recent publications include a monograph on "The Politics of Employment and Welfare in Advanced Capitalist Systems: National Policies and International Interdependence." Among his earlier publications are "Wages, Profits and Investment in Sweden," "Political Constraints on Economic Strategies in Advanced Industrial Societies," and "Is Democratic Control of Capitalism Possible?" He was a co-editor of the Center's study on Trade Union Responses to Economic Crisis in Western Europe and author of its section on Sweden. He is co-chair of the Labor Study Group.

CAROL A. MERSHON, Political Scientist. Mershon, who is on leave from the Political Science Department of the University of Washington in St. Louis, is teaching this year in the Harvard Government Department. Her research interests include interest representation, electoral change, internal union and party politics, and Italian politics. She is currently doing research on local party and union elites in Italy, and completing a book manuscript, "The Micropolitics of Union Action: Representation, Bargaining, and Conflict in Italian Factories." Together with R. Fishman, she is writing a series of papers on the labor movements of Spain and Italy. Her recent publications include "Federal-State-Local Relations and the Policy Process," Children, Families and Government: Perspectives on American Social Policy, 1983; and "Unions and Politics in Italy," Italy at the Polls, 1983: A Study of the Parliamentary Elections (forthcoming).

SONYA MICHEL, Historian. Head Tutor of Women's Studies and Lecturer on History and Literature at Harvard, Michel's research and teaching focus on the comparative study of American and European social policy toward women and families. She also works on feminist theory and on the representation of women in popular culture. She is currently completing a full-length study of public child care policy in the United States, tentatively entitled Children's Interests/Mothers' Rights. She is co-editor of Behind the Lines: Gender and the Two World Wars, Yale University Press, 1987. She has also published a number of articles on ethnicity, feminism, film, and psychoanalysis, and is a co-author of The Jewish Woman in America, Dial Press, 1976. She is co-chair of the Study Group on Women in Europe.

S.M. MILLER, Sociologist. Miller is Professor of Sociology and Economics at Boston University and advises the national poverty program in Ireland. He is studying the interrelationships of economic and social policies and local community organizations in Europe and the United States. A recent book is Recapitalizing America, co-authored with D. Tomaskovic-Devey; forthcoming is Dynamics of Deprivation, co-edited with S. Ferge. He recently wrote the introduction to Richard T. Titmuss' The Philosophy of Welfare.

D.C. MOORE, Historian. Moore comes to the Center from the Department of History at the University of California, Los Angeles, where he taught for nineteen years. He is working on a study, "Social Structure and Politics: A Study of Electoral Behavior in Leicester, 1832-1868." His many publications include The Politics of Deference: A Study of the mid-19th Century English Political System, Hassocks & New York, 1976; "The Landed Aristocracy," and "The Gentry," in G.E. Mingay, ed., The Victorian Countryside, Routledge, 1981; and "In Search of a New Past: 1820-1870," in R. Schlatter, ed., Recent Views on British History, New Brunswick, 1984. He has held Fulbright, Guggenheim and National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowships. Moore is Co-Master of Dunster House.

DAVID OHANA, Historian. Ohana teaches at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem. He is currently writing a book examining the development of a new political culture: the culture-critic as a mythmaker at the beginning of the twentieth century. Among those considered are Georges Sorel, The Futurist Movement, Ernst Junger, and Wyndham Lewis. Ohana is the author of "The Role of Myth in History: Nietzsche and Sorel," in M. Zimmerman (ed.), Religion, Ideology and Nationalism in Europe and America: Essays Presented in Honor of Yehoshua Arieli, Jerusalem, 1986. He is the recipient of the Jacob L. Talmon award (1985) and the J. H. Hazen Prize of the Israel Museum, Jerusalem (1986).

HARVEY RISHIKOF, Legal Theorist. Rishikof will be teaching courses in Social Theory and Contemporary Jurisprudence in the Social Studies Concentration at Harvard. His dissertation for the Harvard Government Department deals with jurisprudential questions concerning legal institutions. His most recent publication is "Taking Law Seriously: The New Jurisprudence," in the States and Social Structures Newsletter of April 1987. Rishikof's research interests include political economy and political theory. Rishikof holds a law degree and he will be clerking in the Third Circuit in 1988-89.

IRIT ROGOFF, Art Historian. Specializing in German art of the modern period, Rogoff's main interests are in the study of visual representation as an agent of social and cultural ideology. These interests have led to the founding of the "Study Group—Art and Politics in Germany," a multidisciplinary research and study forum which she chairs in London. She has taught at the Courtauld Institute, London University, and at Warwick University. Having worked on the Royal Academy's exhibition of "German Art in the 20th Century" and its catalogue, she has now edited a second publication for this project entitled The Divided Heritage: Themes and Problems in German Modernism, Cambridge University Press. She is author of City and Art: The Berlin Secession at the Turn of the Century, of a forthcoming critical biography of the painter Gabriele Munther, and is working on a study of modern German Self Portraiture entitled "The Public Self."

CHARLES SABEL, Political Sociologist. Sabel, who is Associate Professor of Political Science at MIT, teaches courses on patterns of industrialization, social democracy, and social theory. His current research interests include new labor strategies, changes in the corporation and redefinitions of the welfare state. He is the author of The Second Industrial Divide (with M. Piore), which explores the relationship between technology, forms of economic organization, and the current economic crisis in the United States and several European countries, published in 1984 by Basic Books; Ökonomische Krisentendenzen im gegenwärtigen Kapitalismus (with G. Müller, U. Rödel, F. Stille and W. Vogt), Campus Verlag, 1978; and Work and Politics, Cambridge University Press, 1982. He is co-chair of the Center's Labor Study Group.

MARIUCCIA SALVATI, Historian. An Associate Professor of Contemporary History at the University of Bologna, Salvati will spend the fall of 1987 at the Center continuing her present research on Italian civil servants in comparison with French and American civil servants from the 1920s to the 1950s. She has done research in French history, especially the Paris Commune of 1871, and on the Italian war and post-war society. Among her recent publications are Stato e industria nella ricostruzione: Alle origini del potere democristiano, Feltrinelli, 1982; "Anciens et nouveaux instruments de l'action industrielle de l'Etat dans la reconstruction italienne," in Le Mouvement Social, January-March 1986. She has directed the Contemporary History Section of the Fondazione Basso in Rome since 1978, where she has organized several international conferences on labor history, theory and methodology. She is co-editor of the Rivista di Storia contemporanea.

JOACHIM J. SAVELSBERG, Sociologist. Savelsberg is a researcher and project director at the Criminological Research Institute of Lower Saxony, West Germany. He has taught at the Universities of Trier and Bremen, and been a Research Fellow at Johns Hopkins University. Among his publications are several books: Lokale Autonomie, 1980; Ausländische Jugendliche, 1982; Politik und Wirtschaftsstrafrecht (with P. Brühl), forthcoming 1987; Regionale Disparitäten im Jugendstrafrecht (with C. Pfeiffer), forthcoming 1987; and Zukunft der Kriminologie (edited), forthcoming 1987. In addition, he has published in the American journals Urban Affairs Quarterly, 1984, Population and Environment, 1984, Law and Policy, forthcoming 1987, and Law and Society Review, forthcoming 1987. As part of a long-term project on the modernization of criminal law, Savelsberg is currently doing research on the genesis and implementation of criminal law in the United States and West Germany. He is the 1987-88 John F. Kennedy Memorial Fellow at the Center.

LAURA SCALPELLI, Economic Historian. Currently an Assistant Professor of Contemporary History at the University of Rome, Scalpelli was previously a researcher for three years at the European University in Florence. Her main research interest centers on the development of the steel industry in Italy during the twentieth century and particularly after World War II, about which she has published a number of articles. Scalpelli spends a year at the Center working on a new research project on the migration of Italians from the South of Italy to the United States since 1947.

DANIEL SHERMAN, Historian. Sherman is Lecturer on History and Literature at Harvard, where he also teaches in the Social Studies and Freshman Seminar programs. His research focuses on the intersection of culture, politics and social change in modern France, with special reference to the visual arts and art institutions. Publications include a review essay, "The Fate of Festivity," French Politics and Society, 14, June 1986, and an article, "The Bourgeoisie, Cultural Appropriation, and the Case of the Art Museum in Nineteenth Century France," Radical History Review, Spring 1987. He is currently completing a book on provincial art museums and urban elites in the nineteenth century and beginning a new project on war memorials in rural France between the wars. He will be co-chairing the Culture and Politics Study Group this year.

CARMEN SIRIANNI, Sociologist. Sirianni is Professor of Sociology at Northeastern University, and will be teaching at Brandeis University this academic year. Among his research interests are work and organizations, theory, social movements and political sociology. His publications include Workers Control and Socialist Democracy: The Soviet Experience, Verso 1982; Work, Community and Power (edited with J. Cronin), Temple University Press, 1983; Critical Studies in Organization and Bureaucracy (edited with F. Fischer), Temple University Press, 1984; Worker Participation and the Politics of Reform, edited, Temple University Press, 1987; "Tempo e Lavoro," Rassegna Italiana Sociologia, 1985; with M. Eayrs, "Economies of Time in Social Theory," Current Perspectives in Social Theory, vol. 8, 1987, as well as various articles on worker participation, the division of labor, and the politics of democratization. This year he will be working on a book entitled Of Time, Work and Equality, to be published by Polity Press, which examines the social theory of time and work time innovation in relation to equality, participation, gender and the democratization of the division of labor. He is also editing Work Time Reform and Organizational Innovation in Europe, the United States and Japan (with K. Hinrichs and W. Roche), for Temple University Press, and co-edits (with P. Rayman) Temple's monograph series "Labor and Social Change."

EUGENE B. SKOLNIKOFF, Political Scientist. Skolnikoff is Professor of Political Science at MIT and former Director of the MIT Center for International Studies. He is co-chair of the Study Group on Comparative Science Policy. His research concentrates on science and public policy issues, international relations, technology and development, and energy policies. Among his publications are Science, Technology and American Foreign Policy, MIT Press, 1967; "Transfer of Technology: The Economic and Security Debate," Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, 1982; and The International Imperatives of Technology, Berkeley, 1972. He is also one of the editors of Visions of Apocalypse: End or Rebirth?, published by Holmes & Meier in 1985.

ROSEMARY TAYLOR, Sociologist. Taylor is Associate Professor of Sociology at Tufts University where she teaches courses on community health, comparative social policy and political sociology. She is completing a study of American culture and popular attitudes towards health. Her current research concerns the development of social welfare programs and health policy in Western Europe. The most recent case study of the project explores how different countries have tried to contain the AIDS epidemic. Her publications include Coops, Communes and Collectives (with J. Case), Pantheon, 1979; a chapter on state intervention in post-war European health care in The State in Capitalist Europe, George Allen & Unwin, 1984; and a chapter on alternative medicine and the medical encounter in the United States and Britain in Alternative Medicines, Tavistock/Methuen, 1984.

MARGARET WEIR, Political Scientist. Weir is Assistant Professor of Government at Harvard, teaching courses on American political development, social policy, and race and ethnic relations. She is co-author of Schooling for All: Class, Race and the Decline of the Democratic Ideal and co-editor of The Politics of Social History in the United States, Princeton University Press, forthcoming 1988. She has written several articles on the politics of economic and social policy in the United States and Europe. Her current research focuses on the development of employment policies in the United States from the New Deal to the present, and on the diffusion of Keynesianism in the United States and Britain. She is co-chair of the Study Group on the United States in a European Perspective.

AFFILIATES

CHRISTOPHER ALLEN, Political Economist. Allen is Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of Georgia, teaching courses in comparative European politics, the politics of industrialized states, and comparative labor movements. He is also Research Associate at the University of Georgia's Center for Global Policy Studies. From 1984-1986, he was a Post Doctoral Research Fellow at the Harvard Business School. He is currently beginning work on a comparative study which examines the role of sectoral regional level actors (banks, employer associations, trade unions and regional governments) in the formation of industrial adjustment strategies in advanced industrialized countries. His most recent publications include: European Politics in Transition (with M. Kesselman, J. Krieger, J. Debardeleben, S. Hellman and J. Pontusson), D.C. Heath, 1987; "Worker Participation and the West German Trade Unions: An Unfulfilled Dream?" in C. Sirianni, ed., Worker Participation and the Politics of Reform, Temple, 1987; "Germany: Competing Communitarianisms," in G.C. Lodge and E. Vogel, eds., Ideology and National Competitiveness, Harvard Business School Press, 1987. With A. Markovits, he was the co-author of the German portion of Unions and Economic Crisis: Britain, West Germany and Sweden, George Allen & Unwin, 1984. He has published articles in West European Politics, Economic and Industrial Democracy, Journal of Policy Analysis and Management, and Business History Review. Allen will be in residence during the summer of 1987.

PETER BALDWIN, Historian. Baldwin is Assistant Professor in the History Department with an interest in modern European and comparative topics. He has published articles on modern German, Scandinavian and Jewish history and is working on turning his dissertation into a book, tentatively entitled "The Politics of Social Solidarity and the Class Basis of the European Welfare State, 1875-1975."

LAUREN BENTON, Anthropologist/Historian. An Assistant Professor in the Department of Urban Studies and Planning at MIT, Benton's research and writings focus on industrial development and urban change in Spain and Latin America. She is currently revising a manuscript on industrial restructuring and "informal sector" growth in Spain. Her publications include a forthcoming volume on comparative studies of the informal sector which she is co-editing with A. Portes and M. Castells, and a study of homeworkers in Spain, El trabajo a domicilio en España, published in Madrid by the Ministry of Economy.

SAMUEL COHN, Historian. An Associate Professor of History at Brandeis University, Cohn is finishing a book entitled Strategies for the Afterlife: Death and Property in Siena, 1205-1799, Johns Hopkins University Press, forthcoming 1988. Among his publications are

The Laboring Classes in Renaissance Florence, Academic Press, 1980; "Rivolte popolari e classi sociali in Toscana nel Rinascimento," Studi Storici, 1979; "Criminality and the State in Renaissance Florence," Journal of Social History, 1980; "Popular Insurrections, 1340-1385, in Comparative Perspective" in Aston and Hilton, eds., The English Uprising of 1381, Cambridge University Press, 1985. Cohn is now working on two projects: the psychological effects of the Black Death in Western Europe, a comparative analysis; and a comparison of city-state development in the Marches, Umbria, Lazio and Tuscany.

JAMES COONEY, Political Scientist. Cooney is Executive Director of the McCloy German Scholars Program and Adjunct Lecturer in Public Policy at the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard, where he teaches the seminar on International Affairs and International Security and coordinates all the European programs. In 1986, the German version of The Federal Republic of Germany and the United States: Changing Political, Social and Economic Relations, which he edited with G. Craig, H. P. Schwarz and F. Stern, was published by Klett-Cotta Verlag. Cooney was a founding editor of the German Studies Newsletter, published by the Center. He directed the Wilson Center project on Germany through 1984 and now is a member of the Aspen Institute Berlin Study Group on Germany. His research interests include European-American security issues and the relationship between technology and foreign policy in the Federal Republic. His book on American foreign policy will be published in the Walker Publishing Company junior high school series in fall 1987.

JOHN GOODMAN, Political Scientist. Goodman is an Assistant Professor at the Harvard Business School, where he teaches the first year course on "Business, Government, and the International Economy." He has recently completed his dissertation on the politics of monetary policy in France, Germany, and Italy. Goodman's research interests include economic policymaking, economic relations between the industrial democracies, and US-European relations. He is co-chair of the Study Group on Comparative Monetary Policy.

FRANCES GOUDA, Historian. An Assistant Professor of History and former Director of the Women's Studies Program at Wellesley College, Gouda is the author of The State of Being Poor: Theories of Poverty and Public Assistance in the Netherlands and France, 1815-1855, Princeton University Press, forthcoming. She is the translator into Dutch of D. North and R. Thomas, The Rise of the Western World (De Opkomst van de Westerse Wereld), Martinus Nijhoff Press, 1980, for which she wrote a critical historical introduction. She has written articles, review essays, and reviews on Dutch and Belgian history, historical perspectives on the feminization of poverty, and female crime in France. Her current research interests focus on colonial policy, gender, and national culture in the Dutch East Indies and French Indochina in the 19th and 20th centuries.

DIANA HAAS, Philologist. Haas is Lecturer on Modern Greek at the George Seferis Chair of Modern Greek Studies (Department of the Classics) at Harvard, where she teaches courses on modern Greek language, civilization, and literature. Before coming to Harvard, she taught modern Greek at McGill University in Montreal and was a research associate in the Cavafy Archive in Athens. She recently received the Doctorat d'Etat des lettres et sciences humaines from the Université de Paris-Sorbonne (Paris IV) for her dissertation "Le Problème religieux dans l'oeuvre de Cavafy: les années de formation (1882-1905)." Her publications include the Bibliographical Guide to 154 Poems of Cavafy, Hermes Presses, 1984 (with M. Pieris); "Early Cavafy and the European 'Esoteric' Movement," Journal of Modern Studies, October 1984, and "Cavafy's Reading Notes on Gibbon's Decline and Fall," Folia Neohellenica, 1982. She is currently completing critical editions of unpublished material from the Cavafy Archive and an English translation of M. Ganas' Stepmotherland (with M. McKinsey), and is beginning research on the theme of Byzantium in 19th and 20th century Greek literature. Haas is co-chair of the Greek Study Group.

JOHN A. HALL, Sociologist. Hall is Associate Professor of Sociology and Social Studies at Harvard and Senior Lecturer in Sociology, on leave from the University of Southampton. His recent publications include Diagnoses of our Time, 1981; Powers and Liberties, 1985; States in History (edited), 1986; Liberalism, 1987; Europe and the Development of Capitalism (edited with J. Baechler and M. Mann), 1987; and Raymond Aron, in press. Hall's current research focuses on America and the world political economy, in particular the extent to which America can compensate for a diminution in its economic power by means of its military strength.

JEFFREY HERF, Political Scientist and Sociologist. Herf teaches in the Strategy Department of the Naval War College. His teaching and research interests include modern European, especially modern German, history, international politics and strategy, comparative politics, sociology of ideology and intellectuals, and modern social and political theory. Power and Interpretation in West Germany: Intellectuals, Politicians and the Euro-missile Controversy will be forthcoming from The Free Press in 1988. His book, Reactionary Modernism: Technology, Culture and Politics in Weimar and the Third Reich, Cambridge University Press, 1984, will appear in Italian, Japanese and Spanish editions in 1988. He has published articles on the euro-missile controversy (in W. Laqueur and R. Hunter, eds., The Western Alliance and the European Peace Movements, Transactions Books, 1985), on relations between Germans and Jews, (in A. Rabinbach and J. Zipes, eds., Germans and Jews Since the Holocaust, Holmes and Meier, 1985), and on social and political theory. He will continue to co-chair the Social Theory Study Group.

RICHARD HUNT, Historian. Senior Lecturer in Social Studies at Harvard, Hunt specializes in Weimar and Nazi German history. He is interested in the early Nazi Party and resistance to Hitlerism. He has written on "Myths, Guilt and Shame in Pre-Nazi Germany," and his Harvard dissertation was on Joseph Goebbels. He also teaches a Core Course on Weimar and Nazi Germany and a tutorial on the comparative study of fascism. He is Chairman of the Fulbright, DAAD, Whiting, and Mellon Programs at Harvard. As President of the American Council on Germany, Hunt works on exchanges between American and German officials and non-government specialists, and as Harvard University Marshal, he meets with most of the major foreign visitors to Harvard and tries to put them in touch with appropriate faculty members.

VOJTECH MASTNY, Historian. Political Scientist. As Professor of International Relations at Boston University, Mastny teaches Soviet and East European history and politics, as well as courses in security studies. In 1987-88, he will also teach a course on Soviet foreign policy at the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies in Washington, DC. He is finishing a manuscript on "Stalin, the Purge, and the Cold War: International Communism and Soviet Security, 1947-1953." The author of Russia's Road to the Cold War, Columbia University Press, 1979, and The Czechs Under Nazi Rule: The Failure of National Resistance, Columbia University Press, 1970, he has edited and written the introduction to the first four volumes of the Duke University Press' annual Soviet/East European Survey since 1984. In 1986, Mastny published Helsinki, Human Rights, and European Security: Analysis and Documentation, Duke University Press. He is a member of the US-Soviet Study Group on the History of American-Soviet Relations.

ANTHONY M. MESSINA, Political Scientist. Messina is Assistant Professor of Political Science at Tufts University where he teaches courses on comparative politics, postwar West European politics, and the political economy of advanced industrial societies. A specialist on British political parties, his book, Race and Party Competition in Britain, will be published by Oxford University Press. His recent publications include: "Postwar British Protest Movements," in Review of Politics, Summer 1987; "Ethnic Minority Representation and Party Competition in Britain," in Political Studies, May 1987; and "Mediating Race Relations: British Community Relations Councils Revisited," in Ethnic and Racial Studies, April 1987. His current research focuses on the relationships among West European public opinion, protest groups, political parties, and Western defense policies. He is an organizer of an international conference on "Ethnic and Racial Minorities in Advanced Industrial Societies" to be held at the University of Notre Dame, December 3-5, 1987.

DEBORAH E. NORD, Literary Critic. Nord is Associate Professor of English Literature at Harvard and works in the area of nineteenth-century British literature and culture, with special interests in urban studies and women's studies. She is Head Tutor of the English Department and a member of the Committee on Degrees in Women's Studies. Her current research involves a study of representations of London, 1820-50 and of the relationship between form and ideology in such representations. She is the author of The Apprenticeship of Beatrice Webb, Macmillan & University of Massachusetts Press, 1985, a literary and historical study of Webb's early social investigation and autobiographical writings. Nord will be co-chair of the CES/CLS Study Group on Biography.

TED PERLMUTTER, Political Scientist and Sociologist. Perlmutter is Assistant Professor of Politics at New York University, where he teaches courses on urban politics in the United States and Western Europe and on American minority politics. He has recently completed a sociology dissertation entitled "Intellectuals and Urban Protest: Turin, 1968-1976." His interests are in the relations between workplace and community conflict, and the roles that organizers and intellectuals play in the development of protest movements. He is also conducting a research project on the role of Boston Black ministers as community leaders. His general interests concern social movements, political sociology and social theory. He will be co-chair of the Intellectuals and Politics study group for the fall term.

MICHAEL J. PIORE, Economist. Piore, Professor of Economics and Mitsui Professor for Problems of Contemporary Technology at MIT, recently completed a book (with C. Sabel) entitled The Second Industrial Divide, Basic Books, 1984, which explores the relationship between technology, forms of economic organization, and the current economic crisis in the United States and several European countries. He is currently working on a project, financed by the International Labor Organization, on the impact of traditional forms of trade union regulation and job control in the United States upon the viability of new technologies. Some of his publications are: "Dualism in the Labor Market: A Response to Uncertainty and Flux, the Case of France," Revue Économique, 1979; Internal Labor Markets and Manpower Adjustments (with P. Doeringer), D. C. Heath, 1971; Birds of Passage and Promised Lands, Cambridge University Press, 1980; Dualism and Discontinuity in Industrial Societies (with S. Berger), Cambridge University Press, 1981; and (editor) Unemployment and Inflation: Institutional and Structuralist Views, Sharpe, 1979.

MARILYN RUESCHEMEYER, Sociologist. Rueschemeyer teaches at Brown University and the Rhode Island School of Design. She has written numerous articles on the sociology of work and personal life in modern society and is particularly interested in the GDR. Recent publications are Soviet Emigre Artists: Life and Work in the USSR and the United States, M. E. Sharpe, 1985; Professional Work and Marriage: An East-West Comparison, St. Martin's Press, 1981 (paperback edition, 1986); "Labor Unions in the German Democratic Republic," (with C. Bradley Scharf) in A. Pravda and B. Ruble, eds., Trade Unions in Communist States, George Allen & Unwin, 1986, and "Integrating Work and Personal Life, An Analysis of Three Professional Work Collectives in the GDR," in GDR Monitor, Winter 1983. She is East European liaison of the American Sociological Association's Committee on World Sociology and is co-chair of the GDR Study Group at the Center. Rueschemeyer has a grant to spend 1987-88 in Berlin studying new towns in the GDR.

JENNIFER SCHIRMER, Anthropologist. Schirmer is Acting Director of the Women's Studies Program at Wellesley College, teaching courses on women's protest in both Europe and Latin America, social policy and feminist theories of the State. Author of The Limits of Reform: Women, Capital and Welfare, Schenkman, 1982, a comparison of the formal ideology of equality and the daily realities of social policy measures for working women in Denmark, she is currently writing an article on the nature and strategies of resistance among working women within state structures. She has been a Human Rights Research Fellow at the Harvard Law School examining the perception of law by military regimes and how these legal ideas shape the politico-legal power of the State. She is also writing on the dynamic between human rights protest by women and national security states of Latin America, as well as comparing political space and place claimed by women protesting in Latin America and at Greenham Common.

JULIET SCHOR, Economist. Schor is Assistant Professor of Economics at Harvard. She teaches courses in Political Economy, and convenes the seminar in Non-neoclassical Economics. Publications include "Change in the Cyclical Pattern of Real Wages," Economic Journal, June 1985; "The Economics and Politics of Full Employment," Socialist Review, May 1985; "Employment Rents and the Incidence of Strikes," in Review of Economics and Statistics, forthcoming 1987, and the book, From Marseilles to Managua: Labor, Foreign Policy and the World Economy, co-authored with D. Cantor, South End Press, 1987. Schor's current research is on comparative monetary policy, and the impact of labor conflict on macroeconomic outcomes. She is also a member of the Center for Popular Economics, in Amherst, Massachusetts.

THOMAS SCHWARTZ, Historian. Schwartz is an Assistant Professor in the History Department at Harvard, where he completed a dissertation entitled "From Occupation to Alliance: John J. McCloy and the Allied High Commission in the Federal Republic of Germany, 1949-1952," a historical inquiry into the roots of the postwar American-West German relationship. Schwartz spent 1982-83 in Bonn on a Sheldon Travelling Fellowship and held a Whiting Fellowship for the Humanities in 1983-84. He was a researcher and editor of the Center's project The Marshall Plan Re-examined, 1984, and the author of "The Decision to Rearm Germany in 1950: Alliance Crisis in the 'Golden Age,'" The Fletcher Forum, Vol. 8, no. 2, Summer 1984.

DEBORAH M. VALENZE, Historian. Valenze has taught at Smith College and Worcester Polytechnic Institute and will be teaching at Brandeis University in the spring semester. She is currently writing a book on work and women in nineteenth-century England, a project growing out of her earlier research on women preachers and popular culture. Valenze is the author of "Pilgrims and Progress in Nineteenth-Century England," in Culture, Ideology and Politics: Essays in Honor of Eric Hobsbawm, 1983; Prophetic Sons and Daughters: Female Preaching and Popular Religion in Industrial England, Princeton University Press, 1985; and other articles on British working-class women in the nineteenth century.

JUDITH EISENBERG VICHNIAC, Political Scientist. Vichniac is an Assistant Professor and Head Tutor of Social Studies at Harvard, teaching courses on 19th and 20th century social theory and the political development of Western Europe. An article of hers entitled "Union Organization in the French and British Iron and Steel Industries in the late 19th Century" appeared in Political Power and Social Theory, vol. 6, Fall 1986, and a book entitled Labor Relations in Comparative Perspective will appear in the spring of 1988.

CHRIS WATERS, Historian. Lecturer on History and Literature and on Social Studies, Waters has completed a dissertation, "Socialism and the Politics of Popular Culture in Britain," documenting socialist attitudes to the development of a commercial leisure industry, the role of leisure in both socialist utopian thought and voluntary organizational activity, and the connection between leisure and politics in the socialist movement. He has published in International Labor and Working Class History, The Journal of Popular Culture, Victorian Studies, The Journal of the William Morris Society, and the Historical Papers of the Canadian Historical Association. He has presented papers on aspects of history, sociology and leisure to the Victorian Studies Association, the 8th International Economic History Congress in Budapest, and the 6th North American Labor History Conference. He has recently completed an article on women's columns in the British Socialist press for Feminist Studies, and has contributed an article on municipal cultural policy to the centenary history of the London County Council. A recipient of a Frank Knox Memorial Fellowship and a Krupp Foundation Fellowship, he is currently teaching tutorials both in the History and Literature and Social Studies Programs and offering a Freshman Seminar on working class culture in Britain.

HANS WINTERBERG, Director, Goethe Institute, Boston. Winterberg assumed his position at the German cultural center for New England in September 1984. He previously served in Calcutta and Hyderabad, India, and in Turin, Italy, where he specialized in organizing conferences on industrial relations, public administration, legal reform, and modern history. His dissertation on the school of Ulrich Zasius, the leading representative of German humanistic jurisprudence, was published in Tübingen in 1961. As an assistant at the Seminar für Deutsche Rechtsgeschichte, University of Frankfurt, he published a number of articles on German legal history. He is co-editor of Grundrechte in Europa im 19. Jahrhundert, Frankfurt, 1980. Since 1975 Winterberg has edited the German Book Review, Bonn.

LAURENCE WYLIE, Anthropologist. Wylie is C. Douglas Dillon Professor of French Civilization Emeritus and co-founder of the Center. His current research focuses on problems of communication between French and Americans and a study of old age in the Village of the Vaucluse, supported by La Commission du Patrimoine through the Fondation Franco-Américaine.

GRADUATE STUDENT ASSOCIATES

MABEL BEREZIN, Graduate Student in Sociology. Berezin is completing her dissertation in Harvard's Sociology Department on "Theatricality and Utopian Politics: A Study of the Theater and Italian Fascism." She will be a Lecturer in Social Studies where she will be teaching the Sociology of Culture. Berezin has held a Krupp Foundation Fellowship. Her research interests are right-wing politics and group mobilization, the political economy of culture, and sociology of art and literature. This year, in addition to revising her dissertation for publication, she will be continuing her research on comparative media response to international terrorism and co-chairing the Intellectuals and Politics Study Group.

GÜNTER BISCHOF, Graduate Student in History. Bischof spent 1985-86 in England, France, Germany, and Austria on a Krupp Foundation Fellowship. His dissertation "Austria in International Politics, 1938-1955" examines the tug-of-war between Austria and the four occupation powers over the post-war international status of the country between East and West. Bischof has lectured on Diplomatic History at the University of New Orleans and is an associate of the Eisenhower Center there. He has published articles on "Foreign Aid and Austria's Economic Recovery after World War II," in New Directions in Economic Security Policy, W. J. Feld, ed. (Westview 1985), and "Mark W. Clark und die Aprilkrise 1946," Zeitgeschichte (April 1986). He is a contributor to the weekly Die Furche (Vienna). He organizes the "Diplomatic History Workshop" in the History Department and is a Teaching Fellow there.

ALICE HOLMES COOPER, Graduate Student in Government. Cooper's dissertation examines the origins of the West German peace movement of the early 1980s, with particular attention to the ideological and organizational evolution of the German left in the post-war period, and the relationship between popular and institutional attitudes toward security questions. She spent 1983-84 in Germany on a Krupp Foundation Fellowship and held a Ford Foundation Fellowship in 1984-85 at the Center for International Affairs.

JOHN FENSKE, Graduate Student in Political Science, MIT. Fenske is writing his dissertation on the domestic political dimensions of France's European security policy in the period after de Gaulle. His article on "France and the Strategic Defense Initiative" appeared in the Spring 1986 issue of International Affairs. His research interests include the nature of the foreign and defense policy-making process in France, the economic and industrial stakes in European defense industries, and the history of transatlantic relations in defense matters since 1945.

DANIEL GOLDHAGEN, Graduate Student in Government. Goldhagen's dissertation will focus on the political, social and cultural sources of Nazi Genocide. He is a Teaching Fellow in the Social Studies concentration at Harvard and has published articles in The New Republic and Patterns of Prejudice.

PETER HANSEN, Graduate Student in History. Hansen's dissertation examines the culture of Alpinism in Britain from 1850-1914 and its relationship to British culture, imperialism, man's relationship to nature, and religious and romantic thought.

GARY HERRIGEL, Graduate Student in Political Science, MIT. Herrigel's dissertation focuses on the politics of industrial change in the West German machinery industry. He spent two years doing research in the Federal Republic and will spend the current year at the Center for International Affairs as a Ford Foundation Fellow. He is the co-chair of the Study Group on Cities, Regions and Economic Change.

PATRICK IRELAND, Graduate Student in Government. Ireland spent 1986-87 in France and Switzerland on a Krupp Foundation Fellowship. His dissertation will examine the political participation and influence of immigrants and their social movements in those two countries, with special emphasis on local-level comparison. The politics of immigration in Western Europe and the United States, central-local government relations, French and Swiss politics, and Ulster represent Ireland's major research interests.

ROBIN KILSON, Graduate Student in History. Having recently finished her research in London on a Krupp Foundation Fellowship, Kilson is completing her dissertation on the role of colonial labor in British logistical planning on the Western Front in World War I. She is especially interested in British manipulation of the world labor market during the war and its political ramifications in the postwar era. Kilson's research interests include the comparative study of European imperialism, decolonization, and the conduct of war in the twentieth century.

STEPHEN KOCS, Graduate Student in Government. Kocs spent eighteen months engaged in research in France and West Germany, supported by Krupp, Friedrich Ebert and Ford Foundation Fellowships. His dissertation examines Franco-German defense relations in the period 1955-1985. His other interests include theories of international politics, US-European relations, and theories of political development. Kocs holds a Harvard MacArthur Fellowship in International Security at the Center for International Affairs this year.

RICHARD LOCKE, Graduate Student in Political Science, MIT. Locke will return this spring from almost two years of field research in Italy, supported by an ITT International Fellowship and an International Doctoral Dissertation Grant from the Social Science Research Council. Locke's dissertation, "Strategic Choice and Its Constraints: Italian Industry and Industrial Relations in Transition," examines the restructuring of industry and its impact on labor. Industry and trade union strategies are examined by focusing on the local institutional structures and political environment in which they are developed and shaped. Locke's other research interests include comparative political economy, industrial relations, and Italian party politics.

SUSAN PEDERSEN, Graduate Student in History. Pedersen's dissertation deals with the development of family policy in France and Britain, 1914-1939. It will outline the gradual emergence of a national plan for families in both countries and examine the ways in which policymaking articulated a particular ideal of family life and structure. She spent 1986 and the fall of 1987 in Britain and in France; her research was supported by grants from the Krupp Foundation Fellowship and the Social Science Research Council. Pedersen published an article in the January 1986 issue of Journal of British Studies: "Hannah More meets Simple Simon: Tracts, Chapbooks and Popular Culture in late Eighteenth Century England."

ANNALEE SAXENIAN, Graduate Student in Political Science, MIT. Saxenian spent the past year in Britain researching patterns of business organization in technology based industries. She is currently in California completing the fieldwork for her dissertation, which compares the institutional foundations of growth in Silicon Valley and Cambridge, England. This research is supported by a grant from the Social Science Research Council.

SERENELLA SFERZA, Graduate Student in Political Science, MIT. Sferza is completing her dissertation on The French Socialist Party: A Comparison between the Federations of Ille-et-Vilaine and Pas-de-Calais. She has written on the French electoral system for French Politics and Society, and is the co-author with Steve Lewis of "French Socialists between State and Society: From Party-Building to Power," in The French Socialist Experiment: Continuity and Change in Mitterrand's France, Polity Press, 1987. Her research interests include party-interest group relationships and political sociology.

NICHOLAS ZIEGLER, Graduate Student in Government. Ziegler is writing a dissertation on political strategies for technological advance in the French and West German electronics industries. He is particularly interested in the links between foreign policy priorities and strategies for industrial vitality. His work in 1987-88 is funded by the Harvard MacArthur Program in International Security. Ziegler's other interests include East-West economic relations, the changing nature of the Atlantic alliance, and the history of liberal thought in Europe.

Blue Cross Blue Shield of Massachusetts

Labor Affairs Office
173 Worcester Street
Wellesley, Massachusetts 02181
617/956-3178
617/956-3169

September 24, 1987

Mr. Arthur Osborn
President
Massachusetts AFL-CIO
8 Beacon Street
Boston, MA 02108

Dear Arthur

The Labor Affairs Office of Blue Cross and Blue Shield is sponsoring a Labor Seminar on Health Care Issues for Labor leaders in Western Massachusetts.

This seminar is planned for October 14, 1987 at 6:00 P.M. at the Marriott Hotel in Springfield. Refreshments will be served following the program.

I hope that you will be able to attend as health care has become a vital ingredient in any benefit package and has a major impact on all of us.

Please feel free to extend the invitation to those Labor officials who may benefit from attending.

As always, please contact me personally if I can assist you or the member you represent.

Sincerely

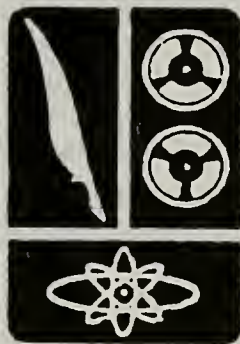

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'John Coughlin'.

John Coughlin
Director

JC/j

LOCAL

6

OFFICE & PROFESSIONAL EMPLOYEES INTERNATIONAL UNION AFL-CIO

JAMES E. MAHONEY
Business Manager

- AFFILIATIONS -

American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations
Massachusetts State Labor Council (AFL-CIO)
Greater Boston Labor Council (AFL-CIO)

577 MASSACHUSETTS AVENUE • CAMBRIDGE, MASSACHUSETTS 02139 • 576-4795

September 21, 1987

Arthur Osborn, President
Mass. AFL-CIO
8 Beacon Street,
Boston, Ma. 02108

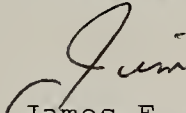

Dear Arthur:

Just a brief note of appreciation for your taking time from your busy schedule to attend our Educational Conference.

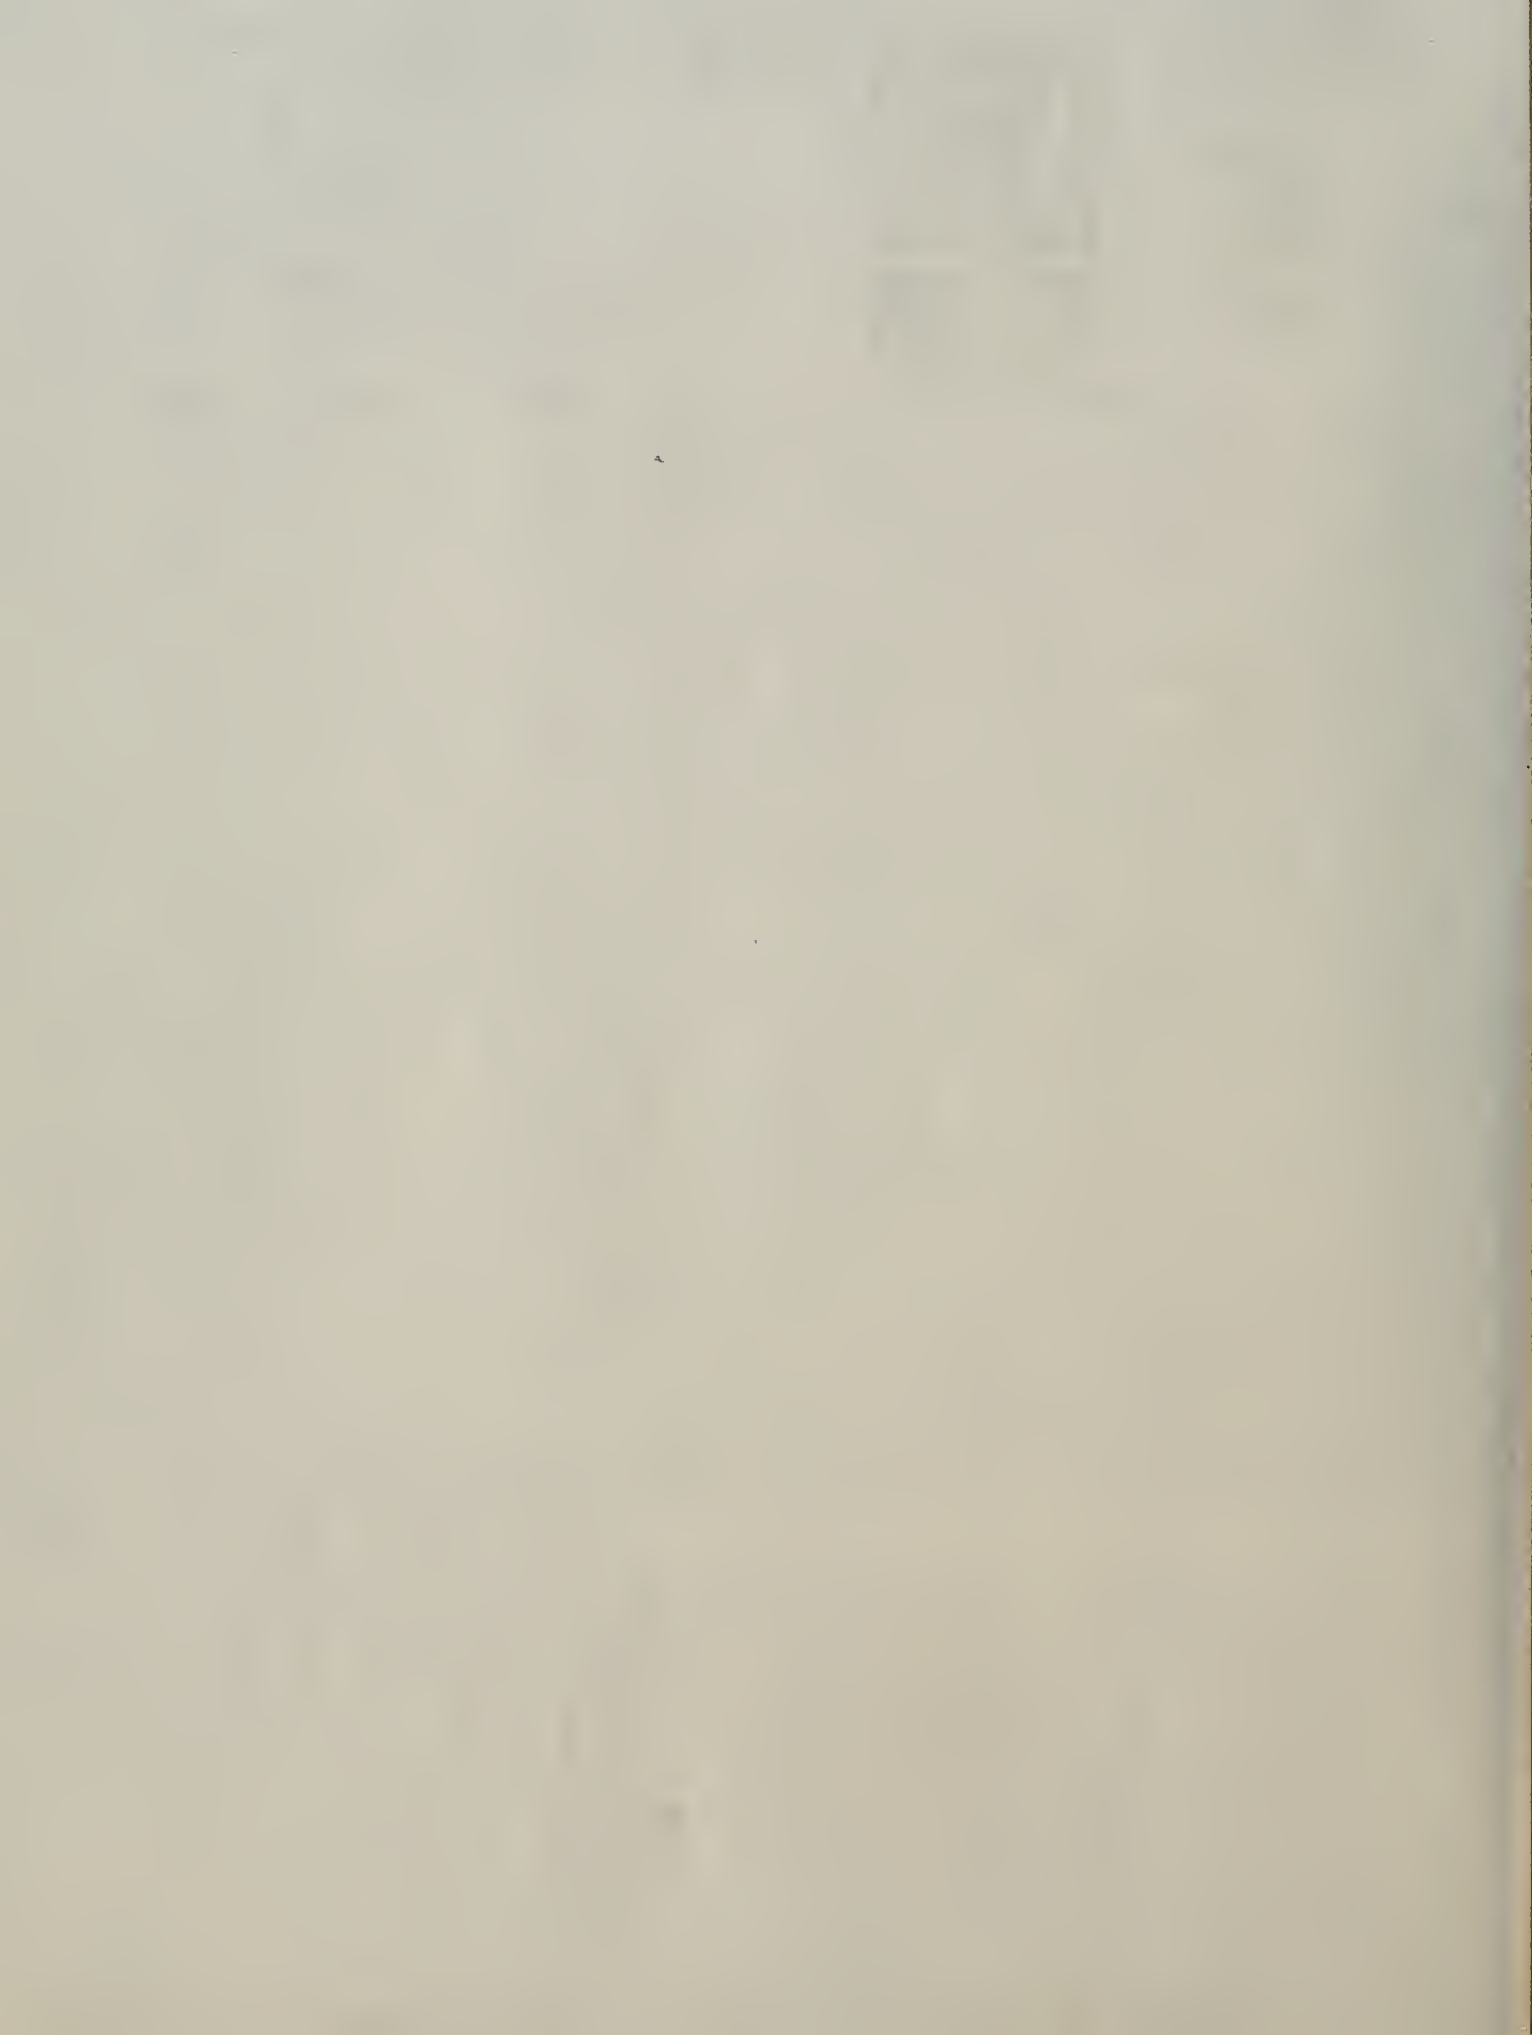

President John Kelly has asked me to extend his apology for being unable to meet you personally. An emergency meeting in Washington denied him that pleasure.

With all best wishes, I am

Fraternally yours,

James E. Mahoney,
Business Manager

opeiu:6
afl-cio

FOOD & ALLIED SERVICE TRADES

DEPARTMENT • AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR & CONGRESS OF INDUSTRIAL ORGANIZATIONS

815 Sixteenth Street, N.W., Suite 408 • Washington, D.C. 20006 (202) 737-7200

ROBERT F. HARBRANT
President

RHONDA L. HILYER
Secretary-Treasurer

September 8, 1987

Arthur Osborne, President
Massachusetts AFL-CIO
8 Beacon Street, 3rd Floor
Boston, Massachusetts 02108

Dear Art:

I am sorry that I did not have an opportunity to say good-bye to you before I left the Labor Day breakfast at the Park Plaza Hotel.

It was good to see you and your great remarks really set the stage for my speech.

Also, I wish you much success for the gala celebration planned for later this month. I think it's great you are providing dynamic leadership for the labor movement in the state.

Keep up the good work!

In Solidarity,

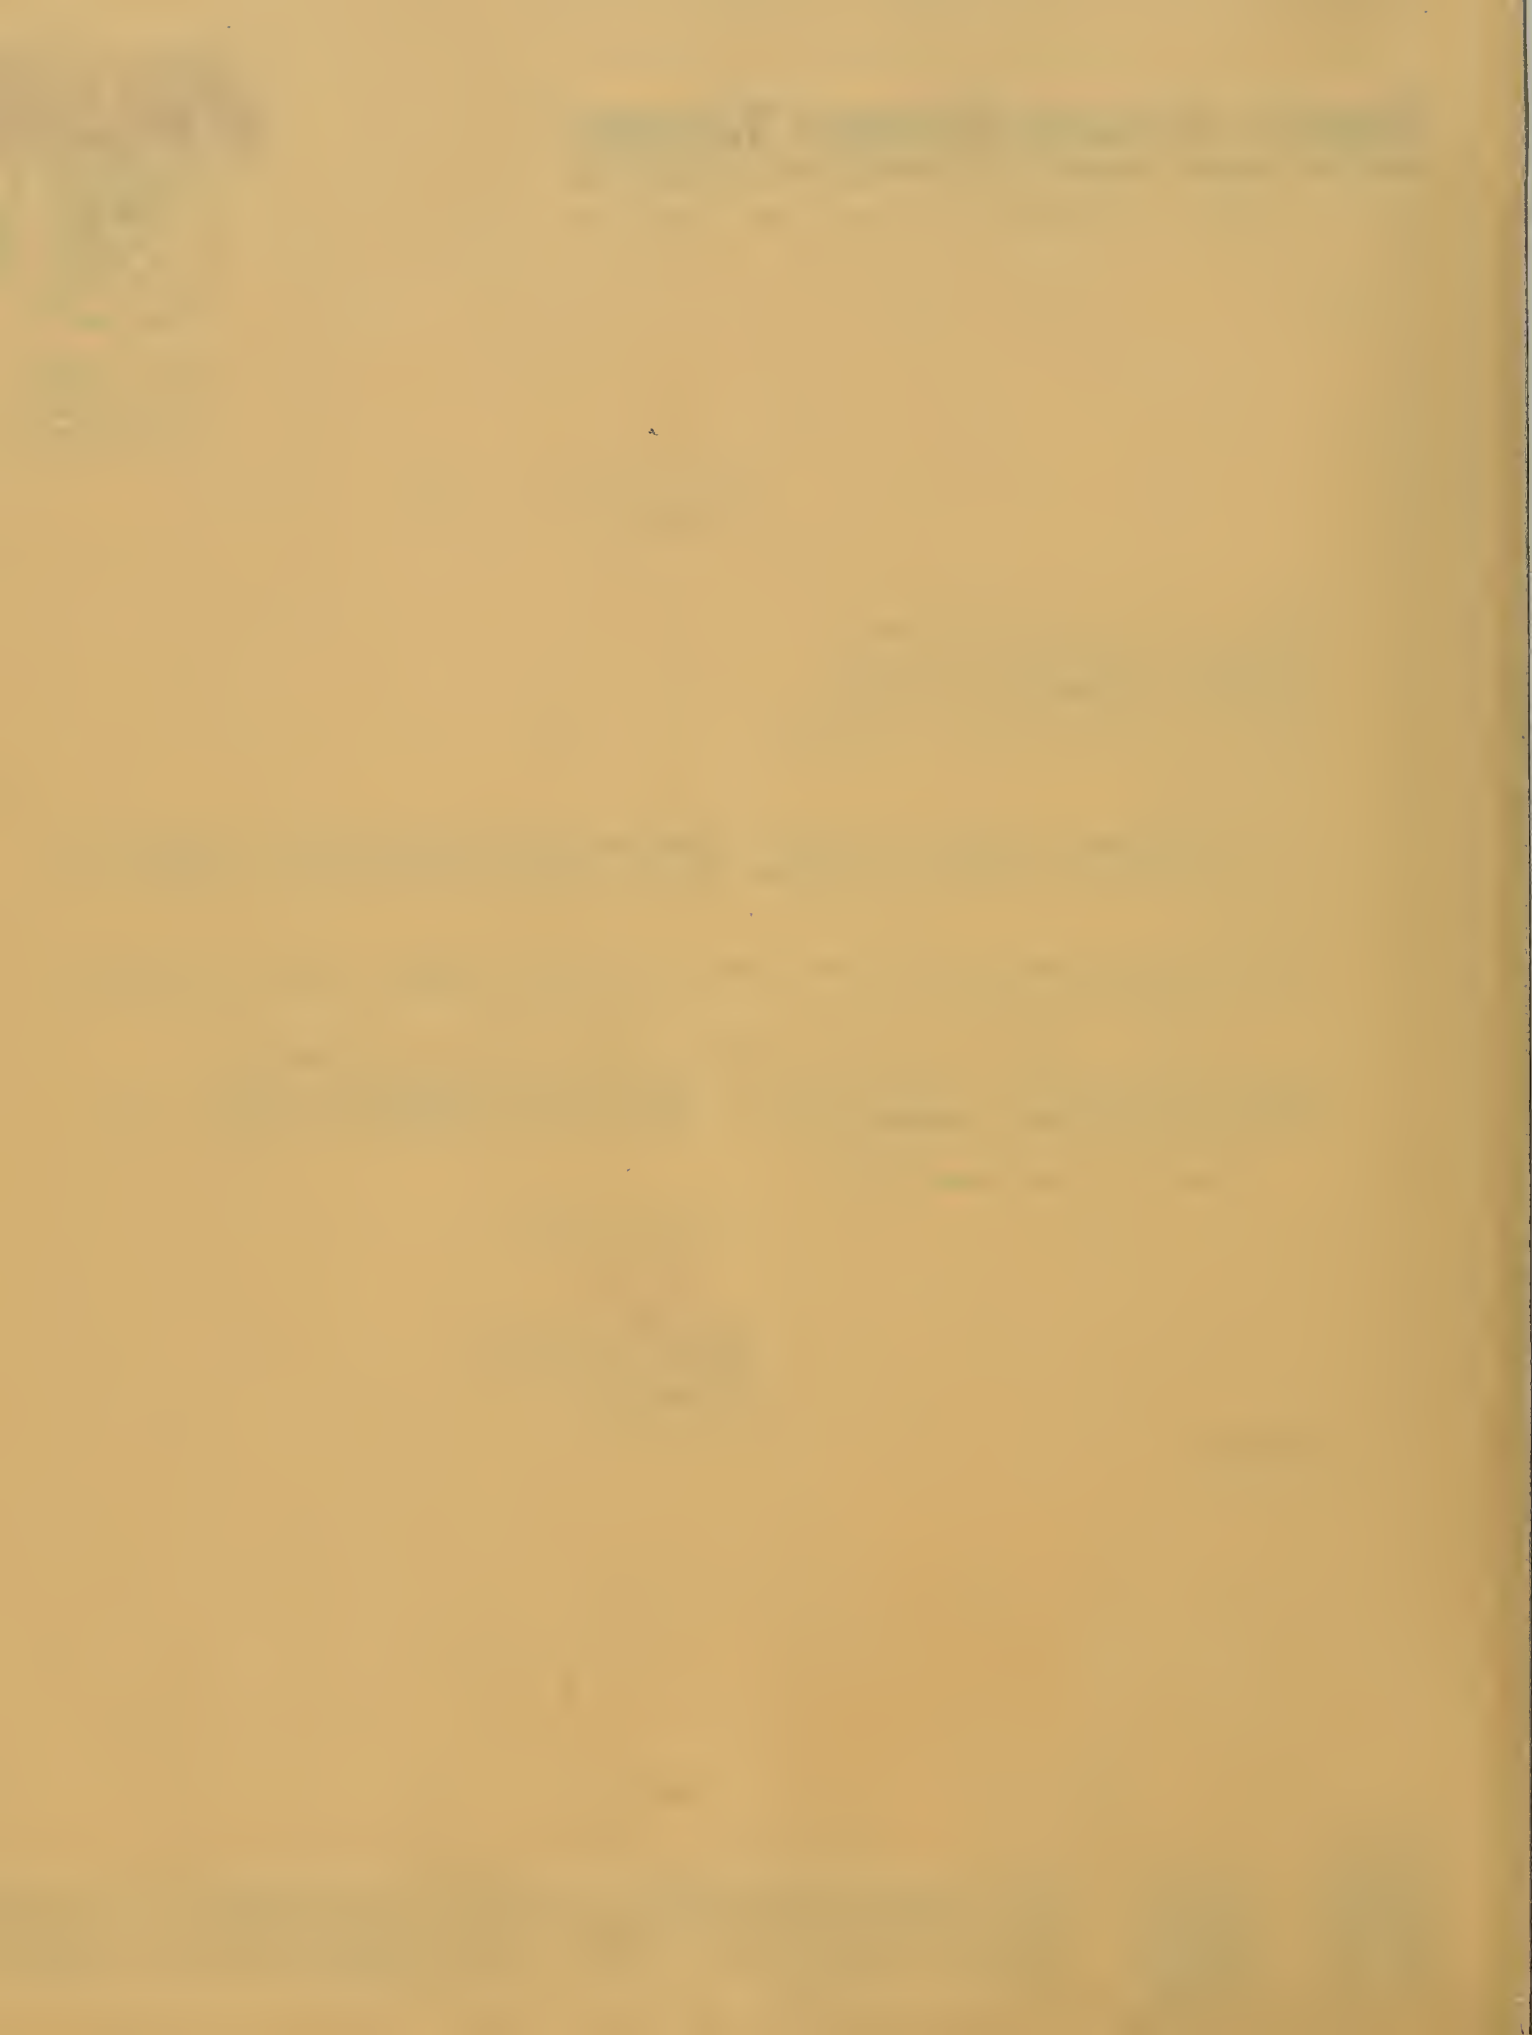

Robert Harbrant
President

RFH/aew

Vice Presidents
SAM H. BEGLER
JACK CAFFEY
FRANK W. CARTER
E. L. (VERA) CATALLI
JOHN DECONCINI
LARRY L. OUGAN, JR.
EDWARD T. HANLEY
ALVIN E. HEAPS
LARRY R. JACKSON

LENORE MILLER
JOSEPH M. MISBRENER
J. F. OTERO
LINDA PUCHALA
LOUIS H. STINE
JOHN J. SWEENEY
ROSEMARY TRUMP
JAMES L. WALKER
WILLIAM H. WYNN

AFFILIATES: Bakery, Confectionery and Tobacco Workers International Union • Distillery, Wine and Allied Workers International Union of America • International Union of Operating Engineers • International Brotherhood of Firemen & Oilers • Association of Flight Attendants • Glass, Pottery, Plastics & Allied Workers Union • American Federation of Grain Millers • Hotel Employees and Restaurant Employees International Union • Laundry and Dry Cleaning International Union, • Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union • United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipefitting Industry of the United States and Canada • Brotherhood of Railway, Airline and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees • Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union • Seafarers International Union of North America • Service Employees International Union • United Food and Commercial Workers International Union.

American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

815 Sixteenth Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20006
(202) 637-5000

LANE KIRKLAND PRESIDENT

Thomas W. Gleason
Albert Shanker
Charles H. Pillard
William H. Wynn
Joyce D. Miller
James E. Hatfield
Vincent R. Sombrotto
Marvin J. Boede
John T. Joyce
Larry Dugan Jr.
Gene Upshaw

THOMAS R. DONAHUE SECRETARY-TREASURER

Frederick O'Neal
Edward T. Hanley
Kenneth T. Blaylock
John DeConcini
John J. Sweeney
Barbara Hutchinson
Gerald W. McEntee
Patrick J. Campbell
Lynn R. Williams
Robert A. Georgine
Jay Mazur

Murray H. Finley
Angelo Fosco
William W. Winpisinger
Wayne E. Glenn
Frank Drozak
Richard I. Kilroy
William H. Bywater
Owen Bieber
Morton Bahr
Milan Stone
Lenore Miller

September 21, 1987

Mr. Arthur R. Osborn, President
Massachusetts AFL-CIO
8 Beacon Street, 3rd Floor
Boston, Massachusetts 02108

Dear Trade Unionist:

Before the opening of the AFL-CIO Convention, the AFL-CIO Departments of International Affairs and Organization and Field Services will sponsor a Conference on International Affairs. This will take place on Friday, October 23, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Fontaine Room of the Fontainebleau Hotel.

The conference will discuss the major issues of foreign policy which are of concern to all trade unionists today, particularly those issues where the AFL-CIO has an established position and, in conjunction with the free trade unions throughout the world, is carrying out activities to pursue that position.

As you know, the AFL-CIO invites many foreign trade union leaders to attend the Convention and we anticipate that most of these will attend the conference. We look forward to a conference that will, in addition to hearing from AFL-CIO representatives, have the opportunity of hearing from these trade union leaders from Asia, Africa, Europe and Latin America. We will plan to have sufficient time for discussion from the floor, and we will provide simultaneous interpretation in the major languages.

Because of the limitations of space, I invite you to send one representative to this conference. I enclose:

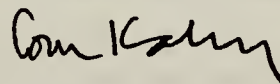

- 1) An invitation form, which your representative will be asked to present at the door;

Page 2
September 21, 1987

- 2) A registration form, which I ask you to return to this department before October 16, 1987, so that we will have the name of the person you designate.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely and fraternally,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "Tom Kahn", written in a cursive style.

Tom Kahn
Director
Department of International Affairs

Enclosures (2)

American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations

815 Sixteenth Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20006
(202) 637-5000

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

LANE KIRKLAND PRESIDENT

Thomas W. Gleason
Albert Shanker
Charles H. Pillard
William H. Wynn
Joyce D. Miller
James E. Hatfield
Vincent R. Sombrotto
Marvin J. Boede
John T. Joyce
Larry Dugan Jr.
Gene Upshaw

THOMAS R. DONAHUE SECRETARY-TREASURER

Frederick O'Neal
Edward T. Hanley
Kenneth T. Blaylock
John DeConcini
John J. Sweeney
Barbara Hutchinson
Gerald W. McEntee
Patrick J. Campbell
Lynn R. Williams
Robert A. Georgine
Jay Mazur

Murray H. Finley
Angelo Fosco
William W. Winpisinger
Wayne E. Glenn
Frank Drozak
Richard I. Kilroy
William H. Bywater
Owen Bieber
Morton Bahr
Milan Stone
Lenore Miller

You are cordially invited to attend a Conference on International Affairs sponsored by the AFL-CIO Department of International Affairs and the AFL-CIO Organization and Field Services Department on

Friday, October 23, 1987

9 a.m. - 5 p.m.

in the Fontaine Room of the Fontainebleau Hotel

Miami Beach, Florida

Kindly present this invitation at the door.

SEND TO: AFL-CIO International Affairs Dept., Room 705
 815 16th St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006

PLEASE REGISTER THE FOLLOWING PERSON FOR THE CONFERENCE ON INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS, OCTOBER 23, 1987, FONTAINEBLEAU HILTON, FONTAINE ROOM, 9 A.M. - 5 P.M.

(Please Print)

NAME: _____ PHONE (O): _____

TITLE: _____ PHONE (H): _____

ORGANIZATION: _____

ADDRESS: _____

CITY: _____ STATE: _____ ZIP: _____

NAME SUBMITTED BY: _____ TITLE: _____

United States Senate

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

C

Massachusetts Transportation Building
Ten Park Plaza - Room 3220
Boston, Massachusetts 02116-3969
(617) 565-8519
September 18, 1987

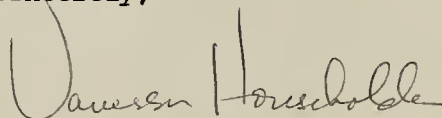

Mr. Arthur R. Osborn
President, AFL-CIO
Massachusetts/AFL-CIO
8 Beacon Street
Boston, Massachusetts 02108

Dear Mr. Osborn:

On behalf of Senator Kerry, I wish to thank you very much for your kind invitation. Unfortunately, due to various constraints on Senator Kerry's schedule, he is unable to accept.

Senator Kerry has asked me to express his personal regrets and to convey to you his very best wishes for a successful event.

Sincerely,

Vanessa Householder
Massachusetts Scheduler

JFK/vh

Labor Affairs Office
173 Worcester Street
Wellesley, Massachusetts 02181
617/956-3178
617/956-3169

September 22, 1987

Mr. Arthur Osborn
President
Massachusetts AFL-CIO
8 Beacon Street
Boston, MA 02108

Dear Arthur

Thank you for taking the time from a very busy schedule to attend the Labor Seminar on Monday regarding Governor Dukakis' legislation on health care.

As you know, the legislation has major and far reaching implications for Massachusetts health care consumers.

I hope you found the seminar and the information discussed helpful in assessing the impact of the legislation.

I will be sure to keep you informed.

Again, thank you.

Sincerely

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'John Coughlin', written over the typed name.

John Coughlin
Director

JC/j

NEW ENGLAND REGION

*Refer to Communications
p. 8 C*

33 Harrison Avenue, Boston, Massachusetts 02111

Tel. (617) 426-1515

September 11, 1987

JAY MAZUR
PRESIDENT

RONALD ALMAN
VICE PRESIDENT-DIRECTOR

IRWIN SOLOMON
SECRETARY-TREASURER

Mr. George Carpenter, Sec.-Treas.
Mass. AFL/CIO
8 Beacon Street
Boston, Ma. 02108

CONNECTICUT
MAINE MASSACHUSETTS
NEW HAMPSHIRE
RHODE ISLAND
VERMONT

Dear George:

You are cordially invited to attend the
I.L.G.W.U. Caucus Dinner to be held at the Boston Park Plaza Hotel, Room 436 (Whitehill) on Wednesday, October 7, 1987.

Cocktails will be at 6:15 P.M. and dinner to follow at 7:00 P.M.

Please fill out the enclosed response card as to whether or not you will attend.

Fraternally,

Ronald Alman
Director

RA/jb

opeiu: 6
afl-cio

Spaulding Associates, inc.

Actuaries and Employee Benefit Consultants

H. Edward Spaulding, president

August 19, 1987

Communicated H.E.S.

Mr. George E. Carpenter, Jr.
Secretary-Treasurer
Massachusetts/AFL-CIO
8 Beacon Street, 3rd Floor
Boston, MA 02108

Re: Massachusetts/AFL-CIO Pension Plan

Dear George:

You will find enclosed the individual benefit statement information that you requested we prepare for each Plan participant together with a summary of the Plan specifications.

As we discussed over the telephone on August 18, 1987, we will not proceed with any special cost study at this time for the six persons for whom data was sent to us. If there is any interest in having a study made at the point of time of the January 1, 1988 valuation it could be done without a substantial increase in the annual valuation cost.

As we also discussed, your Plan percentage of payroll cost is approximately 12.75%. You can anticipate an increase in your annual dollar cost as your payroll increases. The 12.75% includes payment of the unfunded accrued liability amount of $45,155 over a 13 year period of time or $5,356 annually. This $5,356 amount toward the unfunded accrued liability together with the normal cost as shown in the January 1, 1987 report of $35,745 is a total of $41,101 annual pension cost.

Please let me know if I can be of any further immediate service.

Best personal regards.

Sincerely,

H. Edward Spaulding
President

HES/blv

Enclosures

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Executive Office of Labor

One Ashburton Place - Room 2112

Boston, MA 02108

MICHAEL S. DUKAKIS GOVERNOR

PAUL J. EUSTACE
SECRETARY

NOTICE OF JOB OPENING
EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF LABOR

JOB TITLE: Associate Planner

JOB DESCRIPTION: This position develops policy and program recommendations for a variety of workplace related issues for the Secretary of Labor. The position's primary areas of responsibility are: 1) state and federal employment and training policies, particularly as they relate to dislocated workers, and 2) the assessment of the effects of technological change in the workplace.

The position's responsibilities include the conduct of comprehensive research projects, acting as staff for assigned committee work, drafting legislation, preparing detailed analyses and briefing papers and acting as a liaison to labor representatives and interested advocacy groups. The person in this position will work in close cooperation with senior policy making staff of state, federal and local agencies to design policies and programs which address assigned workplace issues.

QUALIFICATIONS:

1. Familiarity with current labor force issues is critical; familiarity with trade unions is desirable. Knowledge of employment and training programs, and/or knowledge of the impact of technological change on the workforce is highly desirable.
2. Ability to analyze relevant data and complex material.
3. Ability to communicate complex policies and directives in clear, concise language, orally and in writing.
4. BA in economics, public policy or related field desirable.
5. Five years of related work experience of which two should be in a policy making role.

SALARY: $30,000 + annually; benefit package included.

Interested applicants should apply by September 30 by sending a resume and cover letter to:

Tracy Fitzpatrick
Executive Office of Labor
Room 2112
One Ashburton Place
Boston MA 02108

Minority applicants are encouraged to apply. The Executive Office of Labor is an EEO/AA employer.

September 10, 1987

TO AFL-CIO STATE FEDERATIONS & CENTRAL LABOR BODIES

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

On August 6, 1987, the United Food and Commercial Workers International Union initiated a "Don't Buy" campaign against meat products produced by John Morrell & Company, a large national meatpacker. In addition, UFCW has requested Morrell's products be placed on the AFL-CIO Don't Buy List and the AFL-CIO has approved this request.

In today's climate of powerful conglomerates, transnationals and the collective assault by the entire corporate community, only the total unity of labor holds the key to worker progress. It is rapidly becoming acknowledged that just as workers by themselves cannot defend their best interest against an employer's attack, nor can a single union withstand the attack of a united Corporate America. More so than ever in the past, the house of labor must be concerned and aid each other whenever workers are forced into a bitter struggle.

The notion that just a given union or group of workers in a specific industry is under attack has long been dispelled. Since the mid-1970's, Corporate America has with great intensity systematically eroded the American workers' standard of living. Workers' real wages remain almost ten percent below where they were in 1979. On a longer term, average weekly wages (after accounting for inflation) have declined a whopping 14.3 percent since 1973. Corporate profits are up 133 percent since the end of 1982 -- the stock market continues in an unprecedented boom -- manufacturing productivity has increased at an annual average rate of 4.5 percent, the largest rise in years. Yet the employers' demands for concessions continue and the workers' wages plummet.

The concession treadmill must be stopped. Clearly, concessions threaten the very base of organized labor -- the workers who join unions to move forward. Equally important, concessions are becoming a major barrier to organizing the unorganized. But most important of all, when workers are stripped of a decent standard of living, forced to labor under deplorable, unsafe working conditions and denied dignity as productive human beings, they become nothing more than modern-day slaves. This nation's working men and women and the labor movement have struggled too long and hard to let this happen.

September 10, 1987

- 2 -

Every worker struggle is an important struggle. Every time the movement stops the corporate profiteers from dismantling the workers' hard won gains we move another step closer, as an entire movement, to becoming stronger and preserving the American dream that we have all been raised to believe in.

Today, one of the largest strikes in the country is taking place in Sioux City, Iowa, and Sioux Falls, South Dakota. At these two locations, 90 miles apart, nearly 4,000 John Morrell packinghouse workers are struggling on the picket line. Their fight has become an all too familiar scene in America -- a profitable company demanding more and more wage concessions, this time at its Sioux City plant. With forced wage concessions have come speedups and soaring on-the-job injuries. In the mid-1970's, Morrell workers slaughtered 600 hogs an hour. Today they slaughter 1,065 an hour. In 1986, at the Morrell facility in Sioux City, 97 out of 100 workers suffered an on-the-job injury or illness. In the same year, at the Sioux Falls plant, 56 out of 100 workers were hurt on-the-job.

While the Morrell workers' fight is not a struggle to end all struggles (the labor movement has never had the luxury of one decisive battle to move all workers forward), it is however an important national fight. We are asking that you join us in our struggle and help bring about justice for 4,000 courageous strikers. For your information and use, we have enclosed the following:

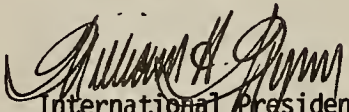

- (1) A book titled "The John Morrell Workers' Struggle." For a quick review, see first two pages of the cover letter in the book.
- (2) New York Times article titled "Misery On The Meatpacking Line."
- (3) A "Don't Buy Morrell" Campaign manual.

We also have available a 25-minute video titled "The John Morrell Workers' Story." For $10.00, which covers the cost of the tape reproduction and mailing, a copy will be sent to you upon request. Please contact International Vice President and Packinghouse Director Lewie G. Anderson to obtain a copy. The video is an inspirational piece of workers telling their story.

After you have had time to review this material, we will contact your office for comments and any assistance you may be able to provide. Should you have any questions, again please contact International Vice President Lewie G. Anderson.

With best wishes, we remain yours,

In Solidarity,

International President

Enclosures

American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

815 Sixteenth Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20006
(202) 637-5000

LANE KIRKLAND PRESIDENT

Thomas W. Gleason
Albert Shanker
Charles H. Pillard
William H. Wynn
Joyce D. Miller
James E. Hatfield
Vincent R. Sombrotto
Marvin J. Boede
John T. Joyce
Larry Dugan Jr.
Gene Upshaw

THOMAS R. DONAHUE SECRETARY-TREASURER

Frederick O'Neal
Edward T. Hanley
Kenneth T. Blaylock
John DeConcini
John J. Sweeney
Barbara Hutchinson
Gerald W. McEntee
Patrick J. Campbell
Lynn R. Williams
Robert A. Georgine
Jay Mazur

Murray H. Finley
Angelo Fosco
William W. Winpisinger
Wayne E. Glenn
Frank Drozak
Richard I. Kilroy
William H. Bywater
Owen Bieber
Morton Bahr
Milan Stone
Lenore Miller

September 3, 1987

TO: ALL PRINCIPAL OFFICERS OF STATE AFL-CIOs REGIONAL DIRECTORS

Dear Trade Unionist:

The Department of Occupational Safety, Health and Social Security and the George Meany Center for Labor Studies are in the initial stages of planning a one week program at the Labor Studies Center in 1988 on Unemployment Insurance and Workers' Compensation.

Targeted at State labor bodies but open to all affiliated unions, this program will be organized so that approximately two and a half days will be devoted to each issue. This will enable those unable or not wishing to take the entire course to attend that section, either Workers' Compensation or Unemployment Insurance, that is most appropriate to their interest or responsibility.

Generally, the content of the program for both WC and UI will include: Legislative developments at the national level, trends in state legislation, lobbying techniques, and union advocacy in representing members in the appeals process. It is our intention to offer this course, or one similar to it, every two years. In order to get away from election years, we will move the course to odd-numbered years beginning in 1989.

We are aware of the constraints on your time - particularly when state legislative bodies are in session. It would be of considerable assistance to us if you would indicate, on the enclosed, whether this course is one you or someone in your organization might attend and which dates in 1988 would be most convenient. These dates have been limited due to Meany Center availability and election year activities. Please return your response to this office as soon as possible but not later than September 30.

Sincerely and fraternally,

James N. Ellenberger
Assistant Director
Department of Occupational Safety,
Health and Social Security

Enclosure
JNE/dcm opeiu #2 afl-cio

C

Please send to: James N. Ellenberger
Assistant Director
Department of Occupational Safety,
Health and Social Security
815 16th Street, N.W., Room 306
Washington, D.C. 20006

_____ Yes, our organization will attempt to participate in the program at the Meany Center on UI and WC

_____ No, we are unable to attend

Dates in 1988 available for this program (subject to change) at the Meany Center. Please indicate your order of preference.

_____ Week of August 14 (this week is the strong preference of the AFL-CIO due to election year activities)

_____ Week of August 21

Comments or suggestions:

Sender: _____

August 26, 1987

Arthur Osborn
Mass. State Labor Council, AFL-CIO
8 Beacon Street, Room 720
Boston, MA 02108

Dear Arthur:

As you may already know, I will be on sabbatical in Kenya for one year, starting September 1. During this period, Jay Himmelstein, M. D., will be Acting Director of the Occupational Health Program. Jay is extremely capable and I know that the Program will be well managed under his leadership. Jay's phone number is 856-3957.

During my sabbatical, I will be performing occupational health research and assisting with the development of training and service programs. I will be based at the Kenya Medical Research Institute in Nairobi, and I will have affiliations with the Finnish Institute of Occupational Health, which has been working in Kenya for almost 10 years, and the University of Nairobi College of Health Sciences. In addition, I will be performing other public-health-related research and teaching in affiliation with Management Sciences for Health, a Boston-based private voluntary organization that works in many Third World countries.

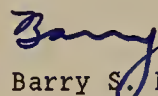

My mailing address at work will be:

Barry Levy, M. D.
c/o A. Choudhry, M. D.
Kenya Medical Research Institute
Mbagathi Road
P. O. Box 54840
Nairobi, Kenya

I have enjoyed working with you over the past several years, and I look forward to working further with you when I return.

Warm personal regards.

Sincerely,

Barry S. Levy, M. D.
Director and Professor

Occupational Health Program

Department of Family and Community Medicine University of Massachusetts
Medical Center

BARRY S. LEVY, M.D., M.P.H.
Director

JAY S. HIMMELSTEIN,
M.D., M.P.H.
Associate Director and Chief of Clinical Services

BEVERLY P. JOHNSON, M.Ed.
Administrator and Community Education Coordinator

MARGARET M. QUINN,
M.Sc., M.I.H.
Coordinator, Workplace
Health Services

GLENN PRANSKY,
M.D., M.Occ.H.
Assistant Chief of Clinical Services

UNITED SERVICE ORGANIZATIONS, INC.

World Headquarters
601 Indiana Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20004
(202) 783-8121

USO COUNCIL OF NEW ENGLAND, INC.

U.S. Coast Guard Support Center
4th Deck, Building #4
427 Commercial Street
Boston, MA 02109-1027 Tel: (617) 720-4949

The Spirit of USO

Honorary Chairman
Ronald W. Reagan

Honorary Campaign Chairman
Bob Hope

Chairman
Dennis P. Long

President
Gen. George S. Blanchard
USA (Ret)

USO COUNCIL OF NEW ENGLAND, INC.

Honorary Chairmen
Doctor Edward L. Bernays
Arthur R. Osborn
James L. Sullivan
Honorable John A. Volpe

Chairman
Daniel D. Gallagher, Esq.

Vice Chairmen
Rear Admiral (LH) Richard K. Chambers, USNR
Lieutenant General Melvin F. Chubb Jr., USAF
Lt. Colonel Timothy J. Cunningham, USMC
Rear Admiral (LH) Robert L. Johanson, USCG
Major General Joseph J. Skaff, USA

President
Lieutenant James J. McAllister
Ancient & Honorable Artillery Company

Executive Vice President
Richard J. Goldfarb

First Vice President
Joseph D. Feaster Jr., Esq.

USO State Chairmen and Vice Presidents
Robert L. Abare, Massachusetts
Lt. Colonel John F. Fielding, USA (Ret), Connecticut
Richard A. Hull, Esq., Vermont
Brigadier General Louis F. Johnson,
USAF (Ret), Maine
Robert P. Kelsey Jr., New Hampshire
Captain Edward C. Whelan, USN (Ret),
Rhode Island
Robert D. Hall, Jr.
Captain Robert M. Leverone, USN (Ret)
Captain Guy J. Simmons, USNR,
James P.D. Waters, Esq.

Vice President and Secretary
Major General Joseph M. Ambrose, AUS (Ret)

Assistant Secretary
Mrs. Margaret J. Pappas

Vice President and Treasurer
Captain Thomas J. Hudner Jr., USN (Ret)

Vice President and Assistant Treasurer
Lieutenant Betty Gibson, USNR (Ret)

Assistant Treasurer
Mary F. O'Hare

Program Director
Carole M. Felz

Airport Center Director
Catherine M. Roberts Swauger

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING NOTICE

Dear Executive Committee Member:

The next Executive Committee meeting will be held:

SEPTEMBER 18, 1987

12:00 NOON - 1:30 P.M.

ALL HANDS CLUB

BUILDING #1

FIRST FLOOR

Please note that our meeting will not be held in the USO Center, although you are always encouraged to stop in.

Please RSVP, if you will or will not attend, by calling (617) 720-4949.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

James J. McAllister
President

(COST OF LUNCHEON - $5.00)

SUPPLIES NEEDED

| | |
|------------------------|-------------------------|
| Paper for Copy Machine | Large Plastic Bags |
| Glue Sticks | Paper or Plastic Plates |
| Scotch Tape | Napkins |
| Pens | Plastic Cutlery |

*Arthur -
Many thanks for arranging passage for the USCG's emergency out for search and rescue. Best Richard*

USO IS AN AGENCY CHARTERED BY THE U.S. CONGRESS, SUPPORTED BY THE UNITED WAY AND VOLUNTARY CONTRIBUTIONS AND FOUNDED FEBRUARY 4, 1941
"A HOME AWAY FROM HOME"

A Request to the USO Council of New England will Perpetuate your Interest & Concern in the Well Being of our Armed Forces.

UNITED STEELWORKERS OF AMERICA

AFL - CIO - CLC

LOCAL 8751

1601 Blue Hill Avenue

Mattapan, MA 02126

617 - 298 - 2160

President
Jim Barrett

Vice - President
Jim Thompson

September 2, 1987

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

TIME IS RUNNING OUT FOR NEW UNION CONTRACT

The Boston School Bus Drivers Union wishes to take this opportunity to make the Boston public school community, and especially the parents and students, aware that the contract between the Union and the private bus management companies, National, ICBM and Transcomm, expires at midnight on September 9, the day before school starts.

The Union's attempts to begin negotiating a new contract in a timely fashion began five months ago, on April 22. The private bus companies failed to present the Union with any proposals until August 17, just three short weeks before the start of school.

Buses don't run without drivers. But while the deadline for school starting was getting closer and closer, National, ICBM and Transcomm were wasting precious time in closed-door secret negotiations with the School Department, haggling over how to split the $70 million in management contracts.

The situation now closely parallels that of two years ago, when the same companies were more interested in their profits than getting the buses on the road and the children to school. In January 1986, we were forced into a strike in order to finally settle our contract. Although the bus companies and school department tried to pin the blame on us, the courts ruled months later that the strike was caused by the contractual arrangements between the bus companies and the school department. Because of those arrangements, the management companies were allowed to keep their profits totally intact, while the school department ended up with a million dollars in fines.

-more-

We don't want a replay of that situation, where the drivers and the students suffer, but the management companies make out like bandits. The Union is prepared to negotiate until this matter is settled. Our membership meets on the night of September 9. We call on National, ICBM and Transcomm to come up with an acceptable proposal which passes on to the workers a fair share of their multi-million dollar profits. Let's start the school year with a signed contract and without disruption.

-30-

For more information, contact:

Jim Barrett, 364-5474

Susan Moir, 265-3031

Jim Thompson, 825-0903

Tess Ewing, 661-2064

President

Charles J. O'Leary

maine afl-cio

157 Park Street, Suite One
P.O. Box 1571 • Bangor, Maine 04401
Tel. 207-947-0006

Secretary-Treasurer

Edward Gorham

September 2, 1987

Massachusetts State Labor Council
Arthur Osborn, President
8 Beacon Street, 3rd Floor
Boston, Massachusetts 02108

Dear Arthur:

The Sixteenth Biennial Convention of the Maine AFL-CIO will be held on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, November 4, 5, 6, 1987 at the Samoset Resort in Rockport, Maine. You, and other officers or staff members of your state federation, are warmly invited to attend all or any part of the convention.

The Convention schedule has not yet been finalized. It will convene on Wednesday, November 4, 1987 at 10:00 a.m. The convention luncheon will be held that noon. The rest of Wednesday and Thursday will be devoted to convention business, policy resolutions, speakers, and educational workshops. Election of officers will take place on Friday.

I have enclosed a hotel reservation form as well as an optional meal package plan for your convenience. Please note that reservation forms must be received by October 3, 1987 in order to guarantee rooms. The cost of the convention luncheon ticket is $12.00.

I know that your schedule is very crowded. We very much hope, however, that you can spend a little time with us in Maine. If you have any questions about details, please call Ken Morgan at this office.

In solidarity,

Charles J. O'Leary
President
Maine AFL-CIO

CJO/SJD ufcw #1445
afl-cio Enc.

President

Charles J. O'Leary

maine afl-cio

157 Park Street, Suite One
P.O. Box 1571 • Bangor, Maine 04401
Tel. 207-947-0006

Secretary-Treasurer

Edward Gorham

August 17, 1987

PLEASE TAKE CARE OF CONVENTION ROOM RESERVATIONS AND MEAL PACKAGE PLAN EARLY

Dear Sister or Brother:

Most of you will want to stay at the Samoset during the convention. We have made arrangements with the Samoset to reserve 50 rooms for convention participants for the night of Tuesday, November 3 and 140 rooms for the nights of Wednesday and Thursday, November 4 and 5. As you will note from the enclosed registration card, we have secured what we think are very reasonable rates - $44.00 for singles, $54.00 for doubles. Suites are $85.00.

THE BLOCK OF ROOMS WILL ONLY BE HELD UNTIL OCTOBER 3, 1987. YOU MUST MAKE YOUR RESERVATIONS BY THEN. RESERVATIONS CAN ONLY BE MADE WITH THE ENCLOSED RESERVATION ENVELOPE. THEY CANNOT BE MADE BY PHONE. NEARLY EVERYONE ATTENDING THE CONVENTION WILL BE ABLE TO STAY AT THE SAMOSET IF YOU MAKE YOUR RESERVATIONS SOON AND USE DOUBLE OCCUPANCY AS MUCH AS POSSIBLE. A DEPOSIT OR CREDIT CARD NUMBER MUST BE INCLUDED WITH THE RESERVATION ENVELOPE. ALSO INDICATE ON THE CARD THE PERSON WHO WILL BE ROOMING WITH YOU. FOR THOSE OF YOU USING DOUBLE OCCUPANCY, IT IS NOT NECESSARY FOR YOU TO RETURN TWO ENVELOPES. SEND THE RESERVATION ENVELOPE DIRECTLY TO THE SAMOSET. DO NOT SEND THEM HERE. THANK-YOU FOR YOUR COOPERATION.

We have also arranged for the Samoset to provide a meal package plan for people attending the convention as it did at previous conventions. Because there are few restaurants in the area, and because time is so limited in order to conduct the business of the convention, and because the Samoset Restaurant simply cannot handle individually the numbers of people attending our convention, I strongly urge you to take advantage of this meal package plan so as to avoid chaos, confusion and frustration.

Those of you who used the plan two years ago recall that the meals were excellent and efficiently served. There will be breakfast buffets of assorted fruit juices, fruit salad, scrambled eggs, bacon, sausage, french toast, home fried potatoes, danish pastries, muffins, coffee, tea, sanko, milk. The Thursday luncheon will be tossed garden salad, baked ham, vegetable, potato, strawberry chiffon pie, and beverage. Since the last two conventions have concluded before noon, we are not including a Friday luncheon in this year's meal package plan.

The cost of the meal package for breakfast on Thursday and Friday and lunch on Thursday, November 5 is $29.00. For those of you who are checking into the motel on Tuesday, November 3, or are arriving early on Wednesday, November 4, we can arrange for a breakfast buffet on Wednesday morning. The cost for three breakfasts and one lunch will be $38.00. The cost includes tax and tip.

Again, I strongly urge you to participate in the meal plan.
We need to have 100 people sign up for the meal plan. It will make the convention run so much more smoothly if you do this.
It would be very helpful to us if you would send us the payment for the meal package plan at the same time you send us your delegate registration form and registration fee. I really have to have some idea of the number of people who are going to sign up for the meal plan by October 16, 1987.
Thank-you for your cooperation.

There will be a luncheon for everyone on Wednesday, November 4, 1987. The cost for that luncheon is included in the delegate' registration fee. You will be issued a ticket for that luncheon at registration. Guests may purchase the Wednesday luncheon tickets for $12.00. They must do this in advance of the convention, however, so that we can give a guaranteed count to the Samoset.

Checks for the meal package plan should be made out to the Maine AFL-CIO. The Samoset will master bill us. Meal tickets will be issued at registration. Registration will be from 6:00 - 9:00 p.m. Tuesday, November 3, for those of you arriving early and from 8:00 to 10:00 a.m. on Wednesday, November 4, 1987. The convention will convene at 10:00 a.m.
Wednesday, November 4, 1987.

Again, thank-you for your cooperation and I look forward to seeing you at the convention.

Sincerely and fraternally,

Edward F. Gorham
Secretary-Treasurer
Maine AFL-CIO

EFG/SJD
ufcw #1445
afl-cio

Please complete and return with payment to Maine AFL-CIO, P.O.
Box 1571, Bangor, Maine 04401.

CONVENTION MEAL PACKAGE PLAN

| Name _____ | Local _____ | |
|------------|--------------------------|---------|
| Plan #1 | 2 Breakfasts and 1 Lunch | $29.00 |
| Plan #2 | 3 Breakfasts and 1 Lunch | $38.00 |

(Breakfasts will be served from 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m.)

NABET 15

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF BROADCAST EMPLOYEES & TECHNICIANS

ONE KENDALL SQUARE
SUITE 2200
CAMBRIDGE, MA 02139
(617) 494-8540

COPY

August 31, 1987

Arthur Jones
Mayor's Press Secretary
Room 603
Boston City Hall
Boston, MA 02201

Dear Mr. Jones:

It was a pleasure meeting you last week along with Ken Flanagan of I.B.E.W. Local 1228. Appreciate the opportunity to explain our concerns now that we are approaching another busy political season.

NABET 15 is the only union in New England that can offer commercial producers complete and competent crews for filming or taping spots. All of our members are freelance employees.....commercial productions is our bread and butter. When the Mayor is ready to do his re-election spots I would like to suggest the following companies as places to turn when selecting a production company. All have signed a contract with NABET 15:

September Productions, Inc.
171 Newbury Street
262-6090

Duck Productions, Inc.
138 Newbury Street
262-0334

Overplus, Inc.
331 Newbury Street
262-6304

Genesis Media Ventures, Inc.
124 Mt. Auburn Street, Suite 200
Cambridge, MA 02138
576-5757

Studio 16/Cherry Films
6 Fanuiel Hall Marketplace
367-3456

Moonlight Motion Pictures, Inc.
71 Dudley Street
Arlington, MA 02174
648-6004

Century III, Inc.
651 Beacon Street
267-6400

John Sloan Films, Inc.
1380 Soldiers Field Road.
782-7200

35 MOS, Inc.
1380 Soldiers Field Road
782-0622

Mr. Arthur Jones
Page 2

I also would like to take this opportunity to recommend, again, the City's use of the Gates Service Group, Inc. whenever there is a need to have lighting done. John Gates, Senior Lighting Consultant with the company, is highly experienced in the field and, although he might be too modest to tell you, has lit every president since Richard Nixon.

The Gates Service Group has also signed a contract with NABET 15. They may be reached at:

Gates Service Group, Inc.
14 Edgewood Avenue
Natick, MA 01760
655-1180

One company that should be avoided for commercial production is Powerhouse Films, Inc. The owners of Powerhouse Films also own Cinemagraphics Film & Video, Inc. and Teleproductions East. I have been attempting for several months to get agreements for all three (even though Powerhouse has already signed) so that our members will be covered no matter which company they are hired by. So far, I have not been successful. I will advise if and when things get squared away.

One thing I did not ask when we all met on Friday was whether I need to communicate directly with Mayor Flynn's campaign staff regarding the issue of union crews for lighting or commercials. If there is another person I need to contact, can you please advise?

Once again, I enjoyed meeting you last week. Please feel free to call should you ever have any questions about NABET 15. I look forward to seeing you sometime in the future.

Very truly yours,

Rosemary D. White Business Agent

cc: Rafael PiRoman, B.M.
Arthur Osborn, Pres., Mass. AFL-CIO
Paul Eustace, Mass. Sec. of Labor

JOHN J. FLYNN, DIRECTOR
REGION 9A UAW
111 SOUTH ROAD
P.O. BOX 1247
FARMINGTON, CONNECTICUT 06034
PHONE: (203) 674-0143
PRINTED IN U.S.A.

INTERNATIONAL UNION, UNITED AUTOMOBILE, AEROSPACE & AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENT WORKERS OF AMERICA-UAW

OWEN BIEBER, President

RAYMOND MAJERUS, Secretary-Treasurer

September 1, 1987

Arthur R. Osborn
President
Massachusetts AFL-CIO Council
8 Beacon Street
Boston, MA 02108

Dear Arthur:

The strike by members of UAW Local 376 at Colt Firearms is now twenty months long.

A major turning point in our efforts to end the dispute will occur in late September when the National Labor Relations Board begins its trial of Colt Firearms on nearly fifty separate complaints of unfair labor practices.

To mark this important event, Region 9A, jointly with the Connecticut State AFL-CIO and the Community Labor Alliance will sponsor a rally, march and picnic on SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1987 beginning at 1:00 P.M. at the Federal Building in Hartford.

The rally will be held in front of the Federal Building in Hartford, Connecticut and will last about half an hour. At its conclusion, we will march to Colt Park for a picnic and musical concert.

We would appreciate it, if you could notify your affiliates in Massachusetts about this rally.

We must all help to put an end to the union busting tactics that have been so popular since 1981. If this strike is lost - who will be next.

Thanking you in advance for your cooperation.

In Unity,

A handwritten signature in cursive script, reading "Betty L. Tianti".

Betty L. Tianti
President
Connecticut State AFL-CIO

A handwritten signature in cursive script, reading "John J. Flynn".

John J. Flynn
Director
Region 9A UAW

A handwritten signature in cursive script, reading "Kip Lockhart".

Kip Lockhart
President
Greater Hartford Central Labor Council

JJF:BT:KL:bms
opeiu494

RALLY FOR THE COLT STRIKERS

Sunday, September 27

COME SUPPORT OUR BROTHERS AND SISTERS FROM UAW LOCAL 376, ON STRIKE AGAINST COLT FIREARMS FOR OVER 21 MONTHS. THE NATIONAL LABOR RELATIONS BOARD (NLRB) TRIAL TO HEAR OVER 30 COMPLAINTS ISSUED AGAINST COLT BEGINS THE NEXT DAY.

JOIN THE RALLY AND LET EVERYONE KNOW THAT WE DEMAND JUSTICE!!!

DATE: SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1987

12:30: ASSEMBLE AT THE FEDERAL BUILDING IN HARTFORD - 450 MAIN ST.

1:00: RALLY FOLLOWED BY MARCH TO COLT PARK
ENTERTAINMENT*, SPEAKERS AND FOOD TO FOLLOW IN COLT PARK

* PARTIAL LIST OF ENTERTAINERS INCLUDE; ARTISTS COLLECTIVE PERFORMING ENSEMBLE: DOWNBEATS: BARBARA FOWLER: BREAD & ROSES

DONATIONS TO THE STRIKERS' HARDSHIP FUND WILL BE APPRECIATED

BOYCOTT COLT

ON THE MARCH TO VICTORY

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CALL THE UAW LOCAL 376 - (203) 249-1346

MASSACHUSETTS / AFL-CIO

Voice of Organized Labor 400,000 Strong

September 21, 1987

PRESIDENT

ARTHUR R. OSBORN

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENTS

JOSEPH M. LYDON
THOMAS G. EVERS
JOSEPH C. FAHERTY

SECRETARY - TREASURER

GEORGE E. CARPENTER, JR.

VICE PRESIDENTS

RONALD M. ALMAN
DANIEL A. BEAUREGARD
DOMENIC BOZZOTTO
EDWARD F. BURKE, JR.
FRANK CECCARONI
LINDA R. CHIGAS
EDWARD W. CLARK, JR.
EDWARD W. COLLINS, JR.
JOHN P. CONLEY
CHARLES DeROSA
PAUL L. DEVLIN
CAROL A. DREW
JAMES FARMER
BRUCE FERIN
GIL FERREIRA
WILLIAM J. FOLEY
WILLIAM F. IRVIN
JOSEPH W. JOYCE
JULIA KAMEL
THOMAS P. KERR
DONALD J. LEAHY
DICK LeBLANC
DAVID LIMA
KEVIN MAHAR
MARY ANN MANGO
PATRICK J. MELE
NANCY MILLS
A. MICHAEL MULLANE
JAMES NESTOR
GEORGE J. O'BRIEN
RICHARD F. PICCUITO
RICHARD E. POST
TONY ROMANO
JOHN F. SIMMONS
CHARLES E. THOMPSON
BARNEY WALSH

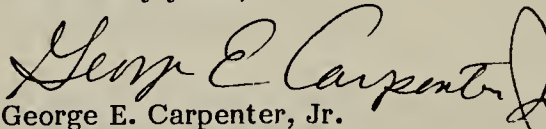

TO: MEMBERS OF THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL
FROM: GEORGE E. CARPENTER, JR.
RE: MINUTES OF COUNCIL MEETING

Enclosed for your review and approval are the minutes of the August Executive Council meeting.

Our next meeting will be held in conjunction with our Annual Convention on MONDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1987, at 2:00 P.M. IN THE ARLINGTON ROOM OF THE PARK PLAZA HOTEL.

Looking forward to seeing you on October 5th,
I remain,

Fraternally yours,

George E. Carpenter, Jr.
Secretary-Treasurer

opeiu-6
afl/cio
enc.

MASSACHUSETTS / AFL-CIO

8 Beacon Street, Boston, MA 02108

Telephone: (617) 227-8260

MASSACHUSETTS / AFL-CIO

Voice of Organized Labor 400,000 Strong

September 21, 1987

PRESIDENT
ARTHUR R. OSBORN

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENTS
JOSEPH M. LYDON
THOMAS G. EVERS
JOSEPH C. FAHERTY

SECRETARY - TREASURER
GEORGE E. CARPENTER, JR.

VICE PRESIDENTS
RONALD M. ALMAN
DANIEL A. BEAUREGARD
DOMENIC BOZZOTTO
EDWARD F. BURKE, JR.
FRANK CECCARONI
LINDA R. CHIGAS
EDWARD W. CLARK, JR.
EDWARD W. COLLINS, JR.
JOHN P. CONLEY
CHARLES DeROSA
PAUL L. DEVLIN
CAROL A. DREW
JAMES FARMER
BRUCE FERIN
GIL FERREIRA
WILLIAM J. FOLEY
WILLIAM F. IRVIN
JOSEPH W. JOYCE
JULIA KAMEL
THOMAS P. KERR
DONALD J. LEAHY
DICK LeBLANC
DAVID LIMA
KEVIN MAHAR
MARY ANN MANGO
PATRICK J. MELE
NANCY MILLS
A. MICHAEL MULLANE
JAMES NESTOR
GEORGE J. O'BRIEN
RICHARD F. PICCUITO
RICHARD E. POST
TONY ROMANO
JOHN F. SIMMONS
CHARLES E. THOMPSON
BARNEY WALSH

TO: MEMBERS OF THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL
FROM: GEORGE E. CARPENTER, JR.
RE: THIRTIETH ANNUAL CONVENTION
OCTOBER 6 - 9, 1987

Please mark your calendars for the following events which, you as a member of the Council, are invited to attend:

Monday, October 5, 1987

2:00 P.M. - Executive Council meeting
Arlington Room

5:00 P.M. - Reception and dinner for members of the Council
Berkley/Clarendon Rooms

Thursday, October 8, 1987

6:15 to 7:15 P.M. - V.I.P. Reception
Berkley/Clarendon Room

7:15 P.M. - Lineup of head table for banquet
As in the past, you are cordially invited to be a head table guest

7:30 P.M. - Banquet in Main Ballroom

Our convention opens on Tuesday, October 6th at
1:00 P.M.

Looking forward to meeting with you in convention,
I remain,

Fraternally yours,

George E. Carpenter, Jr.
George E. Carpenter, Jr.
Secretary-Treasurer

opeiu-6

MASSACHUSETTS / AFL-CIO

8 Beacon Street, Boston, MA 02108

Telephone: (617) 227-8260

